Woman charged with drug after routine traffic stop

A routine traffic stop on Sunday afternoon resulted in a drug charge for an Estill woman.

Irvine Officer John Sturmiolo said he observed a red 2000 Ford traveling south on the Winchester Road which had an expired registration.

After an investigation, the officer arrested Melissa Jane Cox of 2135 Stacy Lane, Irvine. She was charged with expired registration, failure of owner to maintain insurance, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of drugs, and possession of a controlled substance.

The citation states that Cox admitted that she had injected percoset earlier that day. The officer said she had a syringe of two percosets in her possession.

Cox's bail was set at $500 cash.

Veteran Suicides

VETERANS POST by Freddy Groves

Operation S.A.V.E. is a Department of Veterans Affairs training program designed to prevent suicide in veterans. While the program is geared for suicide-prevention coordinators, there are points that can be helpful for family and friends of veterans who might be at risk.

The initials themselves outline parts of the program:

Signs of suicide
Asking about suicide
Validating feelings
Encouraging help and expediting treatment.

Those who work or live with veterans can help stop many veteran suicides. Here are some must-have resources:

--Go online and study the program that is given to VA suicide prevention coordinators. Google this title: Operation S.A.V.E.: VA Suicide Prevention Gatekeeper Training.

--Google "veteran suicide" and look for the .pdf entitled "Department of Veterans Affairs Operation SAVE Suicide Prevention." As you scroll, don't miss the Myths and Misinformation section, as well as the S.A.V.E steps.

--Go to www.mental-health.va.gov and click Suicide Prevention on the left side. You'll find a full menu of choices, including warning signs and resources.

The official guesstimate of the number of veteran suicides is 22 per day. As more people and groups read the "Suicide Data Report 2012" they eventually come to the conclusion that the number is low, for many reasons: Not all states participated in the survey and didn't provide numbers. Information in some cases was provided by funeral homes (who got their information from family members) and not by the VA. Information from states with large veteran populations wasn't used. Information wasn't current, and so on. In other words, the problem might be even worse.
