Be Thankful For What We Have

nately tasty. It is Bread Pudding, a favorite in my family. It is a century old dish created by thrifty cooks to ensure stale bread would not go to waste.

My parents grew up during the Great Depression, when "waste not, want not" were the words of the day. The creativity of house wives was sometimes pushed to the limit in order to stretch food dollars and make use of every morsel of available food. I've heard my parents reminisce about dishes from that time period. Like corn meal mush, fat back, sweet milk and bread, butter and sugar sandwiches, and corn bread and buttermilk. I've also heard of dishes not so fondly remembered such as lard sandwiches!

We have experienced a challenging economy the past few years, but thankfully it is nothing like the Great Depression. However, when it comes to food we can take the best of what came out of that era . . . frugality . . . and leave the worst (lard sandwiches) to history.

Cookbooks in those days had many recipes that were creative and frugal. Several recipes made use of "meat extras" such as the liver, sweetbread, heart, kidneys, tongue, hog heads, (my Dad made souse meat from hogs heads that was delicious) and pigs feet.

Some of these things might make us wince to even think about preparing or eating them, but there is still a lot to be learned from our ancestors about economical nutritious cooking.

I am thankful for the bounty of food we enjoy today such as turkey, dressing and all the side dishes I plan to serve at our table this Thanksgiving. Many traditional recipes were passed down from generation to generation.

Bread Pudding

- 4 eggs, beaten
- 2 ¼ cups milk
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ tsp cinnamon
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ⅛ tsp nutmeg
- 2 cups stale bread (white) into 1-inch cubes
- ½ cup raisins (optional)
- Whipped cream (optional) to garish

In large mixing bowl use a rotary beater to beat eggs, milk, sugar, cinnamon, vanilla, and nutmeg. Set mixture aside. Place the two cups of bread crumbs in an ungreased baking dish and pour egg mixture evenly over the bread crumbs and raisins.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 40-45 minutes until tests done by inserting a knife in center comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream if desired. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Is There Any Whom Fear?

by BOB CASEY, Preacher
Church of Christ 262 Broadway, Irvine

Hebrews 11:7 says: "By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house, by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of righteousness which is by faith."

Notice that the beginning and ending of this verse speaks the same way: By faith.

The definition of this word means: a reverence of God's love, and of His power, or authority. Sadly, we have now reached the time when history is now beginning to repeat itself, for there is very little reverence for God in the world. For the same reasons God condemned and overthrew the anti-deluvian world. We are now seeing being promoted by our president, our governors, our senators, by raising the status of homosexuals and lesbians as being a normal thing. What they are doing is flying in the face of God who does not allow anyone of this lifestyle to ever enter into his heaven, unless they repent. I Corinthians 6:19 and Revelation 21:8 says that none of this lifestyle will ever enter there. God calls this an abomination. Again in Romans 1:28 Paul wrote: "And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things, which are not convenient." So they are faced with the fact that all who practice, promote, and allow the lifestyle are completely void of any righteousness. Paul says these are worthy of death.

So what must one do in the face of all this evil among us? First of all remain faithfully to every command of our Lord. Secondly, warn and cry aloud with every opportunity to do so. For too long the responsible citizens have sat idly by the way side and let most of it just happen. We elect ungodly leaders who for a note would sell out his conscience. So today, it says on our currency, "In God we trust," but is it so? I personally know that there is very little fear and reference among the general population. So unless more preaching is done condemning the sinful practices that are among us most like those of Noah's day will perish. But God be thanked that there are still many faithful persons out there, and these are the ones who in reality are still holding back the last judgment. When Christians are not able to make a difference, then the Lord is sure to come! Don't let His coming catch you unprepared.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
Michael A. Guido, D.D.
Metter, Georgia

Two miners had been searching for gold for months. Their efforts went unrewarded until one day when they struck it rich. They did not want anyone to know where they discovered their "fortune" until they staked their claim. But they needed supplies badly.

They decided to go into town, buy what they needed, tell no one of their discovery and return to their cabin.

However, in spite of their silence, after they returned to their cabin, a large crowd appeared. In spite of their silence, everyone knew of their joy and happiness. Their faces gave away their story.

Whatever we have on the inside always appears on the outside. When God resides within us, His glory will be reflected through us.

One day Moses met with God. When he returned to his followers, his face glowed with God's glory, letting the people know that he had been with God.

When you and I spend time with God, reading His Word, spending time in prayer, others will know that we have been with Him. It will show in us and through us.
