Maudie's Naughties

Cousin Wilferd in California on Gas Prices

"Maudie, the price of fuel is so high out here, I went into a station this morning and asked for five dollars worth. The clerk passed gas and gave me a receipt."

Bad Day At The Tables

Bambi is having a bad day on the roulette table. Down to her last $100, completely exasperated, she cries, "What rotten luck! What in the world should I do now?"

"Why don't you play your age?" says Mitzi, as she walks away to play the slots. A few minutes later Mitzi hears a great commotion at the table. Thinking Bambi may have won big, she walks back over to find Bambi lying limp on the floor. "What happened?" asks Mitzi. "Is she alright?"

"I don't know," says the table operator. "She put all her money on 29 . . . then 36 came up and she hit the floor!"

Good News Bad News

Lawyer: "I have some good news and some bad news."
"Well, give me the bad news first."
"The DNA tests showed that it was your blood they found all over the crime scene."

"Oh no! I'm ruined! What's the good news?"
"Your cholesterol is down to 130!"

Annual Checkup

Pa is having his annual checkup when Doc asks him, "Pa, how's your sex life these days?"

"Oh, you know," replies Pa. "The Social Security kind."
"Social Security?" asks Doc, "What do you mean by that?"
"You get a little each month, but barely enough to get by."

Wrong Impression

A patient awakens after a serious operation only to find herself in a room with all the blinds drawn. "Why are all the blinds closed?" she asks her doctor.

"Well," the surgeon responds, "They're fighting a huge fire across the street, and we didn't want you to wake up and think the operation had failed."

Big Feet

A woman goes into a bar in Texas and sees a cowboy with his feet propped up on a table. He has on the largest boots she's ever seen. The woman asks the cowboy if it's true what they say about men with big feet. The cowboy just grins. The two end up spending the night together. The next morning she gets up to leave and hands him a $100 bill.

"Thank you ma'am," he says. "Ain't nobody ever paid me for my services before."

"Don't flatter yourself," the woman replies. "Take the money and buy yourself some boots that fit."

Paying Taxes

Ma and Pa drive over to Lexington to the IRS office to discuss some unpaid taxes for 2002.

The agent tells them, "We here at the IRS feel it is a great privilege to be allowed to live and work in the USA. As a citizen you have an obligation to pay taxes, and we expect you to eagerly pay them with a smile."

"Well, that's a relief," says Ma, smiling toward Pa. "We thought we were going to have to pay cash!"

Cheap Anniversary Present

Slim stops by the cosmetics store to pick up a gift for Maybelle for their anniversary. The clerk starts off showing him a bottle of perfume costing $50, but Slim keeps asking for something cheaper. She shows him a $30 bottle; then finally she pulls out a really tiny $15 bottle.

"No," says Slim, "I'd like to see something really cheap."
Aggravated, the clerk points to his reflection in a mirror and says, "That's the cheapest thing in this store."

Secret To Old Age

First Lady Michelle Obama is taking a drive in rural Virginia when she notices a little old man sitting in a chair on his porch. She has her driver pull over and she walks over to the man saying, "I'm an advocate for a healthy lifestyle, and I couldn't help but notice how happy you look," she says. "What's your secret for a long, happy life?"

"I smoke three packs a day, drink a case of beer, eat fatty foods, and never, ever exercise," he replies.

"Wow, that's amazing," she says, "How old are you?"
"Twenty-six."

Capital Punishment

Bambi is called to serve for jury duty, but asks to be excused because she doesn't believe in capital punishment. The public defender tries to convince her that she is appropriate to serve on the jury. "Madam," he explains, "This is not a murder trial! It's a simple civil lawsuit. A wife is bringing this case against her husband because he gambled away the $12,000 he had promised to use to remodel the kitchen for her birthday."

"Well, okay, I'll serve," agrees Bambi, "I guess I believe in capital punishment after all."

Estill County EMA/CSEPP

Mt. Mushroom Festival Safety Tips

from MELISSA A JESSIE, PIO
Estill County EMA/CSEPP - (606) 723-6533

It's time for the Mountain Mushroom Festival and with the festival comes all kinds of great things. There is always great food, great entertainment and many great items to purchase.

The Estill EMA/CSEPP office wants everyone to have fun and be safe through the festival weekend. Here are a few safety tips to make sure you and your family have a safe and fun festival.

- When possible, visit the festival with another person.
- Be aware of your surroundings and trust your instincts. Do not feel embarrassed to leave an uncomfortable situation.
- When asking for directions, first look for a police officer or another public employee, or go into a nearby business.
- Do not carry large amounts of cash.
- If you must carry a large amount of cash, separate it from your purse or wallet and carry it inside clothing (i.e., in a hidden pocket or a money belt).
- Be careful and alert when cashing checks, or using a cash machine. Never let someone see how much money you have in your wallet, or where you keep your money.
- Pickpockets are often attracted to crowded places. They often work in teams of two or three; one may create a distraction while the other one lifts your wallet. Be aware of someone who bumps, shoves or gets too close.
- Don't tempt a thief by leaving your purse or wallet unattended. It only takes a second to grab it.
- Keep a watchful eye on young children and teach them where to go if they get separated from you. Have them carry an ID card or a piece of paper with their name, parents/guardians' name and a phone number where someone can be reached.

guardians' name and a phone number where someone can be reached.

• Make sure to have older children check-in periodically at a designated location or have them call you.
