These Estill County Middle School students recently spent the day at the Estill County Animal Shelter providing cleaning and maintenance services for the shelter. The group of students are part of a school program known as the Teen Outreach Program (TOP Club), which is sponsored by the Estill County Middle School Youth Services Center and the Estill County Health Department. This club focuses on social issues and getting students involved in service learning. These students also conducted a pet food donation drive, that collected over 200 pounds of cat and dog food, which was donated to the shelter.
