Maudie's Naughties

Trapped on the Second Floor

Trixie and Mitzie are living on the second floor downtown when a fire breaks out in the business below. Mitzie is at work, but Trixie is at home and is trapped by the fire below. Firemen rush to the scene where they coax Trixie onto the window ledge and tell her to jump into a blanket they are holding.

"No way!" says Trixie. "You guys pulled that trick on me last summer at the beach . . . Just lay the blanket on the ground and I'll jump into it!"

Lifesaver

Aunt Hilda tells Ma how she got a broken arm and four broken ribs when she was trapped by a fire on the second floor a few years ago while living in Norwood, Ohio.

"I was hanging on the ledge with the fire raging below me," says Hilda. "The fire trucks hadn't arrived yet, and there was no escape. Suddenly, from out of the crowd gathered below, a huge professional football player pushes his way to the front and yells for me to jump and he'll catch me."

"I was a little reluctant," continues Hilda. "But he tells me that as a receiver for the football team, he does it all the time with the football and he won't have any trouble catching me . . . So, I jump and he catches me safely in his arms."

"I thought you told me you got a broken arm and four broken ribs?!?!?" says Ma.

"Oh," replies Hilda. "That came from when he spiked me to the ground and yelled, 'TOUCH . . . DOWN'."

Seduction

A frail, little old lady walks into the police station and says, "Help, I was taken advantage of by a tall, dark, handsome man!"

The cop says, "When?"

She says, "Twenty-three years ago."

The cop says, "What are you telling me now for?"

The little old lady says, "I just like to talk about it once in a while."

Lost in the Gorge

One day, Stupid, Trouble, and Shut Up are hiking in The Gorge when Trouble wanders away from the trail and they can't find him. Well, Stupid and Shut Up do not know what to do so they go to the ranger station. When they get there the ranger asks them their names.

"Shut Up," replies Shut Up. "Stupid," replies Stupid.

"Excuse Me!" shouts the ranger.

"Shut Up!" "Stupid!"

The ranger is very riled.

He then asks, "Are you looking for trouble?!?!?"

Stunned at the idea of the ranger knowing that they are looking for their friend, they reply, "Why yes, how did you know?"

Ride Home

Cowboy Joe gets paid every Friday and immediately rides into town to a bar where he gets plastered, then stumbles out to his horse and rides home.

A couple of his fellow cowhands decide to play a trick on him. While he's in the bar, they turn his horse around; then they sneak back into the bar for a couple more rounds.

The next morning, a bucket of cold water thrown on Joe brings him around and he gets up ready to go back to work.

"How was your ride home last night," asks one of the pranksters?"

"Not so good," replies Joe. "Somebody sneaked and cut my horse's head off last night, and I had to pull him all the way home with my finger in his windpipe!"

Science Question

If H₂O is on the inside of a fire hydrant, what is on the outside? K9P

Cycle Accident

Two guys are riding up the road on a motorcycle. The driver wears a leather jacket turned around backwards to block the air. They enter into a sharp curve where the driver loses control and wrecks.

An old farmer who lives nearby calls in the accident.

"Are either of them showing any signs of life?" asks the emergency operator.

"Well, the driver was," answers the farmer, "Until I turned his head around the right way."

Fire School

Farmer Green's wife calls up Ma one day to ask about their cousin Trudy who has enrolled in fire fighting school. "How's she doing," asks Mrs. Green. "I haven't heard from her."

"Well, she was doing pretty good," replies Ma. "Until the class on fire extinguishers. Trudy has a problem pulling the pin. So, the instructor tells her, 'It's just like a hand grenade.' Trudy jerks out the pin and throws the extinguisher at the fire."

Four Alarm Fire

Two fellows are sitting in a restaurant . . . suddenly the city's fire alarm goes off . . . one jumps up and heads for the door.

His friend shouts, "Hey, Tom, I didn't know you were a fireman!"

Tom replies, "I'm not, but my girlfriend's husband is . . ."

Preparing For Tomorrow

We live in a fast paced world today. Most people have a full load of things that must be done every day. Then we add several activities that we enjoy or children enjoy to the load. To successfully complete our daily lives we prepare at least one day in advance, several days, weeks, months or even years.

We prepare work schedules, game schedules, meal plans, saving plans. We pack lunches, diaper bags, suit cases. We prepare and pack for everything. We even prepare for events we don't want to happen; flat tires, job loss, even death. But have you prepared a family plan or at least talked to your family about what to do should your house catch fire? What would you do if we had a major earthquake or tornado? What is your plan if a chemical event occurred? Have you packed a first aid kit? Do you have enough water and food to last your family 3 days if a major disaster happened?

Don't wait to prepare a family plan and disaster kit. You know how crazy life gets if you forget that you had that meeting or that your kid has a ballgame. Imagine if everything around you was in complete chaos. Families that have a plan know what to do should a disaster occur. They know how to get out of the house and where their meeting place is should they have fire. They know how they will contact each other after an earthquake or tornado should they not be together. They know how to protect themselves should a chemical event occur. Families that have disaster kits prepared can take care of themselves for a few days until they can find somewhere to stay. They can do basic first aid so those who are more seriously injured can get the help they need. They can shelter and feed themselves until help can arrive or so that emergency personnel can attend to those that have nothing left.

We live in a fast paced world today, but sometimes you have to slow down and prepare for tomorrow. For more information contact the Estill County EMA/CSEPP office at 723-6533 or visit us on the web at www.estillcountyma.com. Find us on FB and follow us on Twitter.
