Maudie's Naughties

Mail Order Bride

Junior and his friend Howard Green are looking at Ma's mail order catalog and admiring the models.

"Wow," says Howard. "Have you ever seen such beautiful girls as they have in this catalog?"

"Yeah," replies Junior. "And the prices are really great. I think I'm going to order one."

"If yours looks as great as she does in the catalog," says Howard. "I'm going to order me one!"

A few days later, Howard asks Junior, "Did you ever get that beautiful girl you ordered?"

"No," says Junior. "But it shouldn't be long now. I got her clothes in the mail yesterday."

Missing Services

An elderly gentleman who reaches the age of 105 has attended church faithfully all of his life, but, after his 105th birthday, he suddenly stops coming. So, Brother Billy decides he needs to stop by and check on the old fellow.

"How come after all these years we don't see you at services anymore," asks the pastor?"

"Well," says the old man in a low voice. "When I was 90, I expected the Lord would take me home. Then I turned 95; then 100; then 105. That's when I figured it must be very busy up there and that it might be best if I don't show up in church and remind them that I'm still here."

Jungle Basketball

It is a boring Sunday afternoon in the jungle . . . so the Elephants decide to challenge the Ants to a game of basketball.

The game is going well with the Elephants beating the Ants 10-8, when the Ants gain possession.

The Ants' star player is dribbling the ball around his defender towards the Elephants' goal when the Elephants' center comes lumbering towards him. The elephant goes up high, then comes down on the little ant, killing him instantly.

The referee stops the game. "What the heck do you think you're doing? Do you call that sportsmanship, killing another player?"

The elephant replies, "Well, I didn't mean to kill him -- I was just trying to block his shot."

Valuable Necklace

A tourist is admiring the necklace worn by a Seminole.

"What is it made of?" she asks.

"Alligator's teeth," the Indian replies.

"I suppose," she says patronizingly, "That they mean as much to you as pearls do to us."

"Much more," he says. "Anybody can open an oyster."

No Welcome Here

Bubba takes his favorite Bluetick coon hound to the vet.

"Doc," he says sadly, "I'm afraid I'm going to have to ask you to cut off my dog's tail."

The vet steps back, "Why should I do such a terrible thing?"

"Because my mother-in-law's arriving tomorrow, and I don't want anything to make her think she's welcome."

Fast Food

One evening two vampire bats are hanging out in their cave. One says, "Man, I'm starving! I need to get some blood!"

And he flies out of the cave.

He returns a few minutes later with blood dripping from his mouth.

"Where'd you get the blood so fast?" the other bat asks.

"Well, you fly out of the cave . . . and you see the first tree on the left?"

"Yes," the other bat replies.

"Well . . . I didn't see it!"

Last Rites

The volunteer fire chief in a small town has just been buried. The last words of the service over, his friends and family start toward their cars. Suddenly, they stop because a strange, eerie sound can be heard coming from the grave. As the guests look around, one of the firefighters says, "Don't worry . . . it's just the dispatcher toning him out."

Talking Duck

A duck walks into a restaurant and orders a sandwich.

The waiter looks at him and says, "But, you're a duck!"

"That's right," says the duck. "You're seeing correctly!"

"But, you can talk!"

"That's right," says the duck. "You hear correctly, too! Now, can I have my sandwich?"

"Of course," says the waiter. "But, are you from around here?"

"No," says the duck. "I'm working on the new building across the road."

So, the duck eats his sandwich and leaves. Later, the owner of a circus comes by and the waiter tells him about the duck."

"Tell him to come by the big tent," says the circus owner. "I have a job for him!"

The next day, the duck comes back in and orders another sandwich, and the waiter tells him about the circus job.

"The circus!" cries the duck. "What would a circus need with a bricklayer?"

Tim Horn Promoted to Supervisor in Probation & Parole District 8

Kentucky Department of Corrections Director of Probation & Parole Roberto Rodriguez today announced the promotion of Tim Horn to supervisor of District 8. Horn assumed his new duties July 1.

District 8 encompasses Bath, Breathitt, Clark, Estill, Lee, Madison, Menifee, Montgomery, Owsley, Powell, Rowan and Wolfe counties. The district office is located in Mt. Sterling with field offices in Campton, Irvine, Morehead and Richmond.

"I am pleased to promote Tim Horn to the District 8 supervisor position," said Rodriguez. "He will provide much needed leadership to that district."

Horn began his career with the Department of Corrections in 2004 as a probation and parole officer in Madison County. During his tenure as an officer he performed numerous duties including supervising a regular caseload, pre-sentence investigation preparation and serving as a member of the 25th Judicial Circuit Drug Court Team. He has also served as a firearms instructor and security threat group coordinator since 2009.

In August 2013, Horn was promoted to assistant supervisor of District 8. Since that time he has served on the Level of Service/ Case Management Inventory Review Committee and is a current member of the Probation & Parole Firearms Board.

Horn is a 1992 graduate of Eastern Kentucky University where he earned a bachelor of science degree in corrections and juvenile services. He is also a graduate of the 2013 Commissioner's Executive Leadership Development Program.

Probation & Parole Supervisor Tim Horn

Our God is a great and gracious God. We see His greatness when we look into the spacious skies at night and see stars that cannot be counted and know that there are galaxies beyond galaxies. We see His greatness when His Son walked among the sick and healed them, the hungry and fed them, the grieving and comforted them, the distraught and encouraged them.

We see His grace when we look at Jesus on the cross, His resurrection from the tomb when He defeated death, His offer of salvation, His promise of eternal life with Him and His invitation to call on Him "when-ever" for "whatever" as long as it is in His name.

David said that God "rescued him because He delighted in him." Delighted here means "to be mindful of, to be attentive to, to keep, to protect, to have pleasure in..." Imagine the great value that God placed on David. He had a special place in God's heart and was delivered from God's wrath and his enemies.

In Christ we have the same deliverance. He takes God's wrath from us in the salvation He provides for us and He also rescues us from the power of Satan who would defeat us. He is with us now just as He was with David three thousand years ago.

Christ living in us gives us His presence and power. When we call upon Him and trust in Him, we can be assured that He "is attentive to us, will keep us, protect us and take great pleasure in us" because He delights in us just as He did David.
