Jail inmate escapes during hospital trip

A female inmate at the Estill County Detention Center is back in custody after she escaped at Marcum & Wallace Hospital last Tuesday.

Kristie L. Gray, 21, of Noland Hill Road, Irvine was lodged in the local detention center after an indictment was returned against her on December 2.

That indictment charged Gray and Levi Conrad Ross, 26, also of Noland Hill Road, Irvine each with complicity to receiving stolen property under $10,000.

According to the indictment, the pair took and pawned antique toys and an antique bicycle on October 14 and 17, 2014 which belonged to Judy Johnson

Deputy Russell "Doc" Morris said that Gray was in the custody of the Estill County Jail when she was transported to Marcum & Wallace Hospital last Tuesday.

The deputy said that Gray fled from the hospital while she was in handcuffs.

Morris located Gray about 5:25 p.m. that same day on Sugar Hollow Road.

Morris also investigated the receiving stolen property case.

River City Players presented "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" on Saturday night and Sunday. The play is a play within a play and has a large cast of children. Above, was the rehearsal scene in the play.

Information wanted on break-in

The Estill County Sheriff's Office is investigating a theft at the residence of Naomi Rawlins on Flinchum Ridge Road, Ravenna.

The investigating deputy, Randy Farthing, said the break-in occurred on Deember 7 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Farthing said that entry was illegally gained into Rawlins' home by breaking through the front door.

Items reported missing include a Kindle fire, miscelaneous jewelry, a Browning 12 gauge shotgun, and a .22 rifle.

Anyone with information on this break-in is asked to call the sheriff's office at 723-2323 during regular business hours.
