

The Estill County Cattlemen's Association sponsored a farm tour to Mercer County on Friday, April 24, 2015. Several association members, about 40 Estill County High School vocational agriculture students, and several Estill County 4-H Livestock Club members joined in the tour. The event was organized by the Estill and Mercer County Cooperative Extension agents for agriculture. The host farm covered 1260 acres and the tour guide was Myron Ellis, a fifth generation farmer and one of five family members operating Ellis Farms. Ellis Farms is a two-part operation including a feeder heifer feed lot and small square alfalfa hay business. They feed and market 1500-1800 heifers annually and sell 100,000 small alfalfa hay square bales. The majority of the alfalfa hay ships to Florida, North Carolina, and South Carolina.
