My niece Scarlett, asked me to write about my favorite memory of her for a class project. This has really set me on my toes. How do I pinpoint just ONE memory about this lovely young lady to be "my favorite"? I began thinking about all the outstanding moments we've shared together and for the life of me, I can't choose just one!

Thinking back on the day she came into this world, that sweet little round face and impish smile, oh how proud her papaw was of his 'baby girl'! She had us all wrapped around her little finger...and still does! And that's exactly how it's supposed to be! Scarlett is not only my niece, but a helpmate, a junking buddy, a best friend and our desert server on Sunday's at Mom's. After lunch, she quietly slips from the table and slices pies or cakes for the family, then places them on the table for us. She is a hard worker and will do anything you ask of her.

She's funny and we always have a blast anytime we're together. Sometimes we'll slip off from the boys, (her brothers) and have just a girls day out. We'll start out at the Burger Barn for a large diet coke, half cup of ice for me and a large vanilla coke for her. We'll hit all our favorite flea markets and antique shops then stop for a bite to eat before heading back home. I hate for days like that to end, before long she'll be grown and gone and I want to hold on to these moments as long as I can.

One of my favorite gifts from her is a photo. She was about three or four when she visited Silver Springs Florida. A statue of Chief Micanopy stands in the center of the park. Scarlett climbed onto the statue and promptly put her fingers in her mouth, stretching the sides of her mouth into a distorted sort of grin, closed her eyes and stuck her tongue out. This picture was proudly given to me as a gift. Years later, I visited the same statue and climbed onto it for the exact same pose. The pictures now sit side by side on my night stand, making me smile every night before I turn out the light.

I suppose one of my fondest memories of Scarlett was when she was a little girl and I was standing at the kitchen sink washing dishes. I glanced out the window to see Scarlett running for dear life towards my house. I just stood and watched her for a moment as she ran a few steps, then looked back towards her house. She'd run a little more, then stop and look back. It was so comical to see her make her way over the hill and stop in the swag, placing her hands on her knees and bending over to catch her breath. It was at this point, her momma couldn't see her slipping away from the house. I think she was about four years old. Before long, her little legs were running again, her bobbed off hair blowing in the breeze, as she headed straight for my back door. She climbed the steps and threw open the door, "what ya doing?", she called to me. I turned from the sink to see her rosy cheeks and bright eyes. "I'm doing dishes, but the question of the day is...what are YOU doing", I answered back. "My momma said I could come play!" replied Scarlett.

About that time my phone rang, my sister's voice calm as a cucumber said, "I have one that has escaped, is she there?" I began to laugh, "Scarlett I thought mommy said you could come play?" I asked of my sweet little rosy cheeked niece. "Her did! I just not told her yet".

Now fourteen, she doesn't slip off to my house anymore, nor does she run. She drives the golf cart or the four wheeler. I treasure the days we share together and look forward to a summer of laying out in the sun and junking with her. She is my buddy and I look forward to making many more memories with my beautiful niece, Scarlett Beth O'Hair.

All my love,
Aunt Tam
