

Just Hunting

by Steve Brewer

In the middle of turkey season, and this picture pops up. So we will take the time to lay turkey hunting on the back burner, and do this story on a little kid, that I know.

Her name is Leona Mae Thomas. She is the daughter of our Court of Appeals judge, Jacqueline Caldwell, and Arron Thomas. I met Arron, Jacqueline, and Leona during her mother's election. Leona is only eight years old and in the second grade at Coxs Creek Elementary school, but she was with Arron and Jacqueline every trip they made into this county. By the way, I want to thank everyone in Estill County who voted for her, she carried our county, and also won the election.

Leona has been quite busy during this break in the school year, and as you can see she has enjoyed being in the outdoors, this time fishing. As my long time readers from other newspapers I have written for know, I love kids, and encourage their parents to get them into the beautiful outdoors as much as possible. Leona Mae is sure filling that request, fishing on a farm pond belonging to Barbara Greenwell, in Nelson County. At eight years old, she has done something already that I would say not half of us old timers have done, caught a monster large mouth bass. I am so proud of her, and I hope to follow her throughout her fishing adventures as she grows into a fine young adult. Keep up the good work Leona Mae, and you also, Jacqueline. We will get through this, and we will get through this together.

You can email Steve Brewer at <News@EstillTribune.com> and we will forward message.
