You Can Now Text 911

Many residents have noticed the construction at the Estill County EMA/CSEPP and 911 Emergency Operation Center. Not only have we been updating the outside of the building, but we have been getting upgrades on the inside as well.

911 now has the ability to receive and answer with text messaging. This is a great way to get emergency help if you are unable to call, such as a home invasion or domestic violence. Texting 911 is also helpful for those who are speech or hearing impaired. If you find yourself in a situation you need to text 911, 4 important things to send in your text to 911:

1. Where you need emergency help. (Address/Location)
2. What is the emergency? (What is happening?)
3. Your name and any other information you think would be helpful.
4. If you are texting 911 so you won't be heard, remember to silence your phone.

We are excited to offer another way for people to get the help they need during an emergency. We ask that you only call or text 911 for emergencies. Please do not text and drive. If you are driving and have an emergency to report please call.
