FLASH BACK
POP ROCK & SOUL
TRIVIA BY AMY ANDERSON

1. Name the artist who claims he's lost fans because of his name.
2. Which group was the first to release "Woke Up in Love"?
3. "Conga" is considered the signature song for which artist?
4. Who was the first artist to be inducted twice into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame?
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "Well, you can tell by the way I use my walk, I'm a woman's man: no time to talk."

Answers

1. Meat Loaf. Vegetarians were leery of him because of the name (in one case a fellow artist who wouldn't speak to him), although he himself was a vegetarian for over 10 years.
2. Exile, in 1983. "Woke Up in Love" took the former rock group to the top of the country charts in both the U.S. and Canada.
3. Gloria Estefan and the Miami Sound Machine.
4. Clyde McPhatter, both as a member of the Drifters and for his solo work.
5. "Stayin' Alive," by the Bee Gees in 1977. It was used in the soundtrack for the film "Saturday Night Fever." After its release, "Stayin' Alive" shot to the top of the charts and stayed there for a month.

Now here's a tip!
by Jo Ann Derson

- Need a quick fix for tarnished brass? Look in your fridge. Ketchup, applied liberally then buffed off, will remove tarnish in a pinch.
- Use a sticky note to clean the cracks in your keyboard. First hold it upside down and shake to remove crumbs. You'd be surprised how much comes out. Then run the sticky strip of the note paper between the keys to pick up dust and any other crumbs.
- "Many people play drinking games with movies and alcohol, but here's my drinking game: I work at an 'office' job (although we are remote now), and every time I get an email notification, I take a sip or slug of water. It's got me surprisingly hydrated!" — P.J. in Florida
- If your marker is nearing the end of its life, you might revive it by setting it tip down in a little bit of rubbing alcohol.
- "Schedule important doctor's checkups, like your annual physical and dental cleanings, in the same month each year so you will know when they are coming up. I use my birth month. My mom always has hers done in February." — E.D. in Massachusetts
- Use a cotton swab to clean out the tips of your earbuds!
- "To clean out your coffeemaker, run a cycle of water through it, and then pour out half the water and replace it with white vinegar. Pour that mixture back through the coffeemaker (make sure it's off) and let it sit for 10 minutes. Then run the vinegar mixture through, then two cycles of fresh, cold water." — A.L. in New York

Q. Who is the actor who plays the racist cop on "The Rookie"? My husband said he once played Superman, but I told him that actor is on another show we watch called "The Witcher." Is it the same person? — Y.G.

A. You're both right! There have been several incarnations of DC Comics' Superman since the Christopher Reeve era, the most recent having starred Henry Cavill in 2013's "Man of Steel," followed by "Batman v Superman" and "Justice League." Cavill, sporting long white hair, is the actor who plays the monster hunter in the hit fantasy series "The Witcher" on Netflix.

"The Rookie's" Brandon Routh was cast as Clark Kent/Superman in the 2006 film "Superman Returns," with Kevin Spacey, but it didn't deliver at the box office, so he faded into obscurity for a while. Fortunately, the DC Universe must like him because he went on to play either Superman or The Atom in several CW series like "The Flash" and "Arrow."

In December, Routh, now 41, was cast on the third season of the ABC drama "The Rookie" as an officer with polarizing views and actions. The role is recurring, but it gives him a chance to play against type, the opposite of a superhero.

Q. Are Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively still married? I never read anything about them anymore. — E.E.

A. Hopefully, it's a good thing that their lives aren't the subject of gossip magazines anymore. Yes, they're still married and appear to be happily so. They have three children together, and recently posted photos on social media of Blake sledding and Ryan coloring Blake's hair during the pandemic. I'm willing to bet they make it to their 10th wedding anniversary next year.

Q. My sister and I both love "The Rifleman" show on ME-TV. How many shots does Luke McCain shoot off in the beginning of the show? Can you also tell us about Mark (Luke's son), his real name and if he's gone on to other shows? — M&E of Spokane

A. "The Rifleman" is a classic Western that ran for five seasons from 1958 to 1963. It starred Chuck Connors as a rancher and Johnny Crawford as his young son, Mark. The number of shots that Connors fires during the opening credits appears to my ears to be 13.

Brandon Routh in "Superman Returns"

Warner Bros.

Crawford is still acting, but not so much these days. He's about to turn 75, and his most recent credit is another Western, a 2019 movie titled "Bill Tilghman and the Outlaws" (aka "The Marshal"), which can be rented through Amazon Prime.

Crawford was one of the original Musketeers with the Walt Disney Company before he appeared on "The Rifleman." He subsequently guest-starred on such notable series as "Hawaii Five-O," "Little House on the Prairie" and "Murder, She Wrote." He and his on-screen father Connors remained close friends, and Crawford delivered the eulogy when Connors passed away in 1992.

CT Scan Unlikely to Miss Advanced Lung Cancer

DEAR DR. ROACH: Is it possible for X-rays and a CT scan to miss advanced lung cancer? My brother worked two days before he died. He went to the hospital, was admitted to hospice and died the next day. I wonder if he knew at least a year ago, but didn't tell anyone. He said his scans showed pneumonia. His son was called to the hospital and spent the day with him until he died. During his last day, my brother told him that he had lung cancer and that it was not diagnosed earlier. — N.W.

ANSWER: I am very sorry about your brother.

Lung cancer, especially early lung cancer, is often missed on a regular chest X-ray. Pneumonia can accompany early lung cancer, and the pneumonia can hide the cancerous mass, but experienced radiologists should be able to see something. Also, experienced clinicians should check an X-ray weeks after a pneumonia to be sure there is no cancer in a person at risk, such as a current or former smoker.

Advanced lung cancer is only very rarely missed on X-ray, and should essentially never be missed on a CT scan. While I can't say it's impossible, it's much more likely that a year ago he was told that he had lung cancer and did not say anything, perhaps to spare his family's feelings, or perhaps he didn't want the sympathy and attention that accompany a diagnosis such as advanced lung cancer.

DEAR DR. ROACH: What does a person do when symptoms are vague and hard to explain? I am an 82-year-old woman. I started feeling discomfort in one breast about three weeks ago. It felt like irritation from a bra. I did all the things I thought I should, and three weeks later the symptoms are the same or slightly worse. Nothing looks or feels different when I touch it. Do I see my primary doctor (he's never seen me naked), or find a gynecologist? How do I present this issue? I feel like a fool. — V.B.

ANSWER: Both clinicians should be able to appropriately evaluate this concern. You should go to whoever you are more comfortable seeing. What you should not do is ignore it.

In your particular case, it's unlikely that your symptoms are because of something serious. Breast discomfort is common and only rarely due to breast cancer, which is what you must surely be concerned about. You should NEVER stop yourself from seeing your doctor for fear of not being taken seriously.

Primary doctors like me and gynecologists are very familiar with women coming in with breast symptoms, and we take them seriously. Clinicians know how justifiably concerned women are about breast cancer. Most often, a woman can be reassured with a careful history and physical exam; other times, a mammogram or ultrasound may be ordered. You don't want to regret missing that visit to the doctor.

It is often said that the only foolish question is the one that is not asked. This situation is analogous: It would be foolish for you not to go. While the overwhelming likelihood is that you will be reassured, in the unlikely event there is something wrong it's far better to know about it earlier than later.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW
BY AMY ANDERSON

The No-Cry Challenge: Tears are shed for many a reason. Unbridled joy. A particularly raucous round of laughter. Heartbreak. The ache of loss. And humans are a curious lot. There are times when we'll go into absolute denial to avoid tears, but other times we rush right in. Case in point: tear-jerkers. Some movies come at you right from the start (the entire first 10 minutes of "Up") and some wait for the end to twist the knife (when Miguel sings with his great-grandmother "Coco").

Either way, here are a collection of tearjerker moments in film for when you just need a little catharsis. Get a box of tissues and (potential spoilers ahead) have yourself a good cry.

My Girl — The death of a child is no easy thing, but in this story of a girl named Vada Sultenfuss, living with her single dad in a funeral home, it's heartbreaking. If you can get through the scene where Vada loses it at Thomas J's funeral because he doesn't have his glasses, I am not sure you are human.

Inside Out — A quintet of emotions interact inside the mind of 11-year-old Riley in this Pixar classic. But it's Riley's forgotten imaginary friend Bing Bong who steals the heart in a loving act of sacrifice that will have you weeping buckets of candy tears.

Steel Magnolias — In this touching story about a group of strong Southern women, there is more than one poignant moment, but for millions of ugly criers, it's the scene where
