Page 4, The Estill County Tribune, Wednesday, March 3, 2021

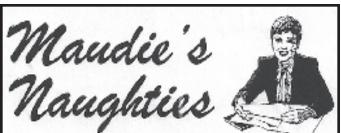

Member of Kentucky Press Association

6135 Winchester Road Irvine, Kentucky 40336-8517 Phone (606) 723-5012 Email: <news@estilltribune.com>

Published on Wednesdays by Tracy Randall Patrick Delores L. Rowland, Editor

Subscription Prices Estill $20, Adj. Counties $31, Elsewhere $35 Periodicals Postage Paid, Irvine, KY 40336 (Permit #685-890)

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to: The Estill Co. Tribune, 6135 Winchester Rd. Irvine, Kentucky 40336-8517

All About Names

A boy goes to his mother one day with a puzzled look on his face. "Say, mom, why is my brother named Mighty Storm?"

She tells him, "Because he was conceived during a mighty storm."

Then he asks, "Why is my sister named Cornflower?"

She replies, "Well, your father and I were in a cornfield when we made her."

"And why is my other sister called Moonchild?"

The mother says, "We were watching the moon landing while she was conceived." She pauses and asks her son, "Tell me, Drive-In Theater, why are you so curious?"

More About Names

An American Indian chief and a tribal chief from Africa are telling each other about their children while waiting at the airport. The tribal chief brags that he has five wives who have given him 23 children.

"How do you come up with names for some many?" asks the Indian chief.

"It's easy," says the tribal chief. "I just call them whatever comes to mind when they're born, like, 'Hey, You!' and 'Come Over Here!' and 'Bring Me Some Water' and 'Scratch My Back' . . . It comes in pretty handy when you link names together."

"What about you?" asks the tribal chief. "How do you name your children?"

"Well," says the Indian chief. "When they are born, I just walk out of the tent and name them after the first thing I see!" "How's that working out?" asks the tribal chief. "Well," replies the Indian chief. "My daughters, 'Sweet Corn Flower' and 'Pretty Spring Morning,' like it really well ... but, my two sons, 'Dogs Mating' and 'Buffalo Dung,' they don't like it at all."

This Week at the State Capitol - February 22-26, 2021 egislature reaches deadlines to introduce bills.

2021 session reached one of the milestones Capitol ue to offer ballot drop boxes for those who do not wish observers eagerly await with this week's arrival of the deadlines to introduce bills in the Senate and House.

Now, with 881 bills filed for consideration, we have a fairly comprehensive view of the issues lawmakers may consider in the remaining weeks of the session. Legislation filed before the deadline included bills on education, elections, taxes, public safety, gambling, civil rights and numerous other topics.

An issue that has been the subject of many headlines over the past year was taken up by the Senate this week with the passage of legislation that would limit and set guidelines for the use of no-knock warrants, which allow officers to enter a premises without This passed the House and Monday and has been sent notice.

Under Senate Bill 4, the warrants would be allowed in limited instances when someone was believed to be in immediate danger or in other certain cases, such as those involving violent crimes or terrorism. These warrants would have to be executed by a SWAT team or a response team with special training. The bill would also specify in statute that it would be perjury if an officer made a false statement in an application for a no-knock warrant.

SB 4 passed the Senate on Thursday and now goes to the House.

Other bills that advanced this week include the following:

House Bill 95 is aimed at helping those with diabetes by capping cost-sharing requirements for prescription insulin at $30 per 30-day supply for state-regu-

FRANKFORT -- The Kentucky General Assembly's person voting. It would allow county clerks to continto send their ballots back by mail. It would also counties to offer voting centers where any registered voter in the county could vote. The bill passed the House on Friday and now goes to the Senate.

Senate Bill 67 would allow certain restaurants to sell alcohol, including cocktails, with to-go and delivery orders when purchased with a meal. The bill passed the Senate on Monday and now awaits action in the House.

House Bill 140 would permit tele-health services that were allowed to expand due to COVID-19 pandemic to remain in place even after the pandemic ends. to the Senate for consideration.

Lawmakers are now past the halfway point of this year's session, which is scheduled to end March 30. Citizens are encouraged to follow the issues lawmakers will consider in the weeks ahead and offer feedback. There are many ways to stay in touch with legislative activity. The Kentucky Legislature Home Page, www.legislature.ky.gov, provides information on each of the Commonwealth's senators and representatives, including phone numbers, addressees, and committee assignments. The site also provides bill texts, a billtracking service, and committee meeting schedules.

To offer feedback to issues under consideration to any legislator, call the General Assembly's Message Line at 800-372-7181.

Which Is Faster?

A pilot, a physicist and a physician are sitting in a restaurant, discussing what is the fastest thing on earth. "It must be the Concorde jet," says the pilot. "You can get from New York to London in 3 hours. What's faster than that?"

"Light is faster," replies the physicist. "There's nothing that can possibly be faster than light."

"I don't know," says the physician. "I believe there are muscles in the human body that can react quicker that light."

"I believe he's right," says the pilot. "I was fly-ing a Concorde at 23,000 feet once when lightning passed through the cockpit . . . I messed my pants before the lightning ever hit the ground."

Junior Gets A Ticket

Junior and his friend Howard are hauling a load of manure through town in Pa's old pickup when they are stopped by a policeman. "You were speeding," says the officer. "I'm going to have to give you a ticket!"

"I don't believe Pa's old truck will go that fast," says Junior, as he watches the officer trying to shoo away several flies buzzing around his head."

"The radar can't be wrong," says the officer. "By the way, what kind of flies are these?"

"They're called circle files," replies Junior. "Because they circle around a horse's rump."

"Hey," the trooper angrily asks. "You wouldn't be calling me a horse's rump, would you?"

"No way," replies Junior. "But, you can't fool them flies!"

Forgive Your Enemies

At the end of the service, Preacher Tom asks the congregation, "How many of you have forgiven your enemies?"

Three-fourths of them hold up their hand.

He then repeats the question and all of the rest raise their hand except for one little, 98-year-old lady. "Mrs. Jones? Are you not willing to forgive your enemies?

"I don't have any." She replies, smiling sweetly. "I've outlived the jerks."

lated health plans. The legislation passed the House on Tuesday and has been delivered to the Senate.

Senate Bill 10 would establish the Commission on Race and Access to Opportunity. The group would be formed to conduct studies and research on issues where disparities in areas including education, child welfare, health care, the economy and criminal justice system. Senate Bill 10 passed the Senate on Wednesday and has been sent to the House.

House Bill 574 would make some of the election procedures implemented last year to accommodate voting during the pandemic permanent. The legislation would offer Kentuckians three days – including a Saturday - leading up to an election day for early, in-

