Maudie's Naughties

Forgetfulness

While on a road trip, an elderly couple stops at a roadside restaurant for lunch. After finishing their meal, the couple leaves the restaurant and resumes their trip. Quite a distance down the road the woman notices she has left her glasses on the table in the restaurant.

So, the husband takes the next exit and heads back the way they just came to retrieve her glasses. Meanwhile, the entire distance he complains about his wife's forgetfulness, scolding her and reminding her of previous lapses in memory.

To her relief, they finally arrive at the restaurant, and the woman gets out of the car and hurries inside to retrieve her glasses.

"While you're in there," the old geezer yells after her, "you might as well get my hat and the credit card."

Get on the Ball

Once there was a golfer whose drive landed on an ant-hill. Rather than move the ball . . . he decided to hit it where it lay.

He gives a mighty swing. Clouds of dirt and sand and ants explode from the spot. Everything but the golf ball. It sat in the same spot.

So he lines up and tries another shot. Clouds of dirt and sand and ants go flying again. The golf ball doesn't even wiggle.

Two ants survive. One dazed ant says to the other, "Whoa! What are we going to do?"

"I don't know about you," says the other ant, "But I'm going to get on the ball."

Needing Companionship?

If you want someone who never criticizes anything you do, doesn't care how good or bad you look, acts as though every word you say is worth hearing, never complains, and loves you unconditionally all the time get a dog!

She Don't Ask Me Anymore

I ain't much for shopping. Or for goin' into town Except for cattle market days, I ain't too easily found. But the day came when I had to go - I left the kids with Ma. But 'fore I left, she asked me, "Would you pick me up a bra?" So without thinkin' I said, "Sure." How tough could that job be? An' I bent down and kissed her, An' said, "I'll be back by three." Well, I done the things I needed, But I started to regret; Ever offering to buy that thing - I worked me up a sweat I walked into the ladies shop, My hat pulled over my eyes, I didn't want to take a chance, On bein' recognized. I walked up to the sales clerk - I didn't hem or haw - I told that lady right straight out, "I'm here to buy a bra." From behind I heard some snickers, So I turned around to see, Every woman in that store, Was a' gawkin' right at me! "What kind you be looking for?" Well, I just scratched my head. I'd only seen one kind before, "Bras are bras," I said. She gave me a dirty look, "Well sir, that's where you're wrong. Follow me," I heard her say. Like a dog, I tagged along. She took me down this aisle, Where bras was on display. I thought my jaw would hit the floor, When I saw that lingerie. They had all these different styles, That I'd never seen before, I thought I'd go plumb crazy, 'fore I left that women's store. They had bras you wear for 18 hours, And that crosses your heart. There was bras that lift and separate, And that was just the start. They had bras that made you feel, Like wearing none at all, And bras that you can train in, When you're still small. Well, I finally made my mind up - Picked a black and lacy one - I told the lady, "Bag it up," And figured I was done. But then she asked me for the size, I didn't hesitate I knew that measurement by heart, "A six-and-seven-eighths." "Six and seven eighths you say? That really isn't right." "Oh, yes ma'am! I'm real positive - I measured just last night!" I thought that she'd go into shock, Musta took her by surprise, When I told her that my wife's bust, Was same as my hat size. "That's what I used to measure with, I figured it was fair, But if I'm wrong, I'm sorry ma'am." This drew another stare. By now a crowd had gathered, And they all was crackin' up, When the lady asked to see my hat, To measure for the cup. When she finally had it figured, I gave the gal her pay. Turned to leave the store, Tipped my hat and said, "Good day." My wife had heard the story, 'fore I ever made it home. She'd talked to fifteen women, Who called her on the phone. She was still a-laughin', But by then I didn't care. Now she don't ask and I don't shop, For women's underwear.

USDA Adds More Eligible Commodities for Farm Storage Facility Loans

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Val Dolcini today announced that the Farm Storage Facility Loan (FSFL) program, which provides low-interest financing to producers to build or upgrade storage facilities, will now include dairy, flowers and meats as eligible commodities.

"For 15 years, this program has provided affordable financing, allowing American farmers and ranchers to construct or expand storage on the farm," said Dolcini. "By adding eligible commodities, these low-interest loans will help even more family farmers and ranchers to expand on-site storage."

The new commodities eligible for facility loans include floriculture, hops, rye, milk, cheese, butter, yogurt, meat and poultry (unprocessed), eggs, and aquaculture (excluding systems that maintain live animals through uptake and discharge of water). Commodities already eligible for the loans include corn, grain sorghum, rice, soybeans, oats, peanuts, wheat, barley, minor oilseeds harvested as whole grain, pulse crops (lentils, chickpeas and dry peas), hay, honey, renewable biomass, and fruits, nuts and vegetables for cold storage facilities.

Since 2000, more than 35,000 facility loans have been approved totaling $2 billion in rural investments. On average, about 1,600 new loans are made each year. Producers do not need to demonstrate the lack of commercial credit availability to apply. The loans are designed to assist a diverse range of farming operations, including small and mid-sized businesses, new farmers, operations supplying local food and farmers markets, non-traditional farm products, and underserved producers.
