Maudie's Naughties

Let It Be!
A man walks into work on Monday with two black eyes. His boss asks what happened.
The man says, "I was sitting behind a big woman at church. When we stood up to sing hymns, I noticed that her dress was caught in her crack, so I pulled it out. She turns around and punches me square in the eye."
"Where did you get the other one?" the boss asks.
"I tried to push it back."

Guilty As Charged
A red-faced judge convenes court after a long lunch. The first case involves a man charged with public intoxication who claims it simply isn't true. "I'm as sober as you are, your honor," the man claims.
The judge replies, "Clerk, let the record show that the defendant indicates 'guilty.' He is sentenced to 30 days."

I'll Have My Way With You
I shall take you to bed and have my way with you.
I will make you ache, shake and sweat until you moan and groan. I will make you beg for mercy, beg for me to stop.
I will exhaust you to the point that you will be relieved when I'm finished with you.
And, when I am finished, you will be weak for days.

All my love, The Flu
(Now, get your mind out of the gutter and go get your flu shot.)

Three Pieces of Pie
Ma, Pa and Junior are sitting at the table eating. At the other end of the table sits a pan with two pieces of pie in it. After watching the plate a while, Junior says, "Pa, I can prove that there are three pieces of pie in that pan."
"Go ahead," says Pa, and continues eating.
"Well," says Junior, pointing, "This is one, and this is two. One and two make three!"
"You're a genius," says Pa. "Now let Ma have the first piece, and I'll take the second. Then you can have the one that is left."

Divorce Court
A judge is interviewing a woman regarding her pending divorce, "What are the grounds for your divorce?"
She replies, "About four acres and a nice little home in the middle of the property."
"I mean," he continues, "What are your relations like?"
"I have an aunt and uncle living here in town, and so do my husband's parents."
He tries again, "Do you have a real grudge?"
"No," she replies, "We have a two-car carport and have never really needed one."
"Please," he asks, "Is there any infidelity in your marriage?"
"Yes, both my son and daughter have stereo sets. But my husband and I don't necessarily like the music."
"Ma'am, does your husband ever beat you up?"
"Yes," she responds, "Most days he gets up earlier than I do."
Finally, in frustration, the judge asks, "Lady, why do you want a divorce?"
"Oh, I don't want a divorce," she replies. "It's my husband. He says he can't communicate with me."

Geography Lesson
Little Wilma is doing her Geography homework over at Ma and Pa's. She turns to Junior and says, "Junior, where would I find the Andes?"
"Don't ask me," says Junior. "Ask Ma. She puts away everything that comes into this house."

Choking on a Quarter
One day down at the Squeeze-In Diner, a man suddenly yells out, "Help, my son's choking. He swallowed a quarter. Can anybody help me please?"
A man seated at a back table comes forward, grabs the kid by the shoulders, picks him up and shakes him violently; then, when that doesn't work, he sets him down, backs up and kicks the kid in the groin and the quarter comes flying out.
"Thank you! Thank you!" the father cries as the man walks back to his table. "You must be a doctor or a paramedic to know how to do that?"
"Neither," replies the man. "I work for the IRS."

Getting Generous
Bambi and Mitzi are walking down the street in Lexington when a beggar approaches them asking for spare change. Bambi adamantly rejects the man in disgust. Mitzi, on the other hand, whips out her cash, pulls out a couple of dollar bills and gladly hands them over to the beggar with a smile. The beggar thanks her kindly and moves on. Bambi is outraged by her friend's act of generosity. "What on earth did you do that for?" she shouts. "You know he's just going to use it on booze!!!"
Mitzi replies, "What? And we weren't?"

Mullen Named KACCA's 2016 "Employee of the Year"

On March 23, 24 and 25 Tommy Mullen attended the 2016 Kentucky Animal Care and Control Association's Annual Training Conference. The Kentucky Animal Care and Control Association was incorporated in March, 1988, for the purpose to improve the skills, knowledge, abilities, and image of animal control care and personnel; to improve animal control care practices; to inform the public on the nature and importance of animal control care work and to promote better laws and law-enforcement methods relating to animals. Our membership is made up of Animal Control Officers (ACO) and animal shelter workers in the Commonwealth of Kentucky charged with the statutory responsibility of providing animal services to our respective jurisdictions for the sake of public health and safety.

While at the conference Mr. Mullen was presented with the Kentucky Animal Care and Control Association's 2016 Animal Shelter Employee of the Year Award. The recipient of this award must be nominated to our executive board for consideration. Tommy received nominations from not only is Judge Executive but also his County Attorney. His County Attorney cited the numerous high profile cruelty cases that he has presented to his office that have resulted in convictions. His County Judge cited his tireless work to improve the adoption rates of his animal shelter by implementing new policies and practices that include working closely with non-profit animal rescue groups and utilizing tools like social media to improve the exposure of the animals that they receive. The County Judge also included in his nomination the work that Mr. Mullen has done with several charitable organizations and partners to procure funds that will lighten the financial burden on their Fiscal Court. Estill County residents are fortunate to have such a professional and caring individual employed at their animal shelter.
