

Scenes from the Mt. Mushroom Festival

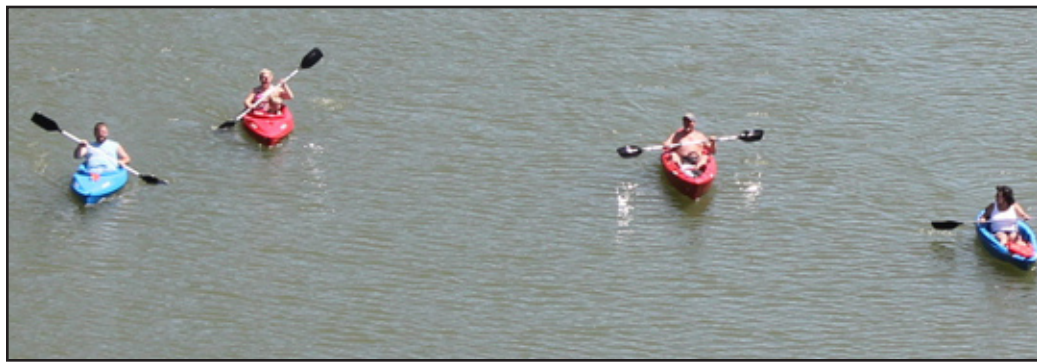

Three truckloads of state winning Marching Engineers Band members were chosen to be the Grand Marshall of Saturday's Mushroom Festival Parade.

This family enjoyed riding around the fairground on Saturday afternoon on a homemade contraption at the Hillbilly Flywheel show.

Tribune Photo/Cathy Dawes

About 24 canoes were put into the water Sunday afternoon at the Irvine bridge for the Speedy Spore Fun Run. The event ended at the county's park at Wiseman Crossing.

97 year old Jacob Westra, now an Estill resident, and WWII veteran rode through the parade in a van decorated patriotically by family members.

The turnout for the Fungus 5K was great with about 65 people registering on Saturday morning. Another 100 had pre-registered. There were also a 2K race and a walk this year.

77 year old Billy Dawes sells his antiques every year at the fairground during the Hillbilly Flywheelers Show.

Tribune Photo/Cathy Dawes

People from all over the state packed the fairground on Saturday for the annual Hillbilly Flywheel Show that coincides with the festival.

Tribune Photo/Cathy Dawes

ABOVE: Daniel Spicer, the overall winner of the Fungus 5K, checked out the plaque he received.

BELOW: Ashley Hood Morley, with announcer Steve Garrett, placed first in the women's division.

Mike Collins danced to the "Chicken Dance" during the Mt. Mushroom Festival.

Tribune Photo/Cathy Dawes

Estill County Middle School Students of the Week

Ethan Bledsoe

The Estill County Middle School Youth Services Center Male Student of the Week is Ethan Bledsoe! Ethan is the son of David Beth, and is in the 6th grade. Ethan said he enjoys fishing, swimming, and playing outside. Ethan was selected for having an outstanding academic achievement and great leadership skills!

— from Kordel Day

Lauren Steinbrook

The Estill County Middle School Youth Services Center Female Student of the Week is Lauren Steinbrook! Lauren is the daughter of Amy and Rob Steinbrook, and is in the 6th grade. Lauren said she likes listening to music, hanging out with friends, going to church, and drawing. Lauren was selected for being a great class participator and having an excellent student presentation!