

"It's A Carnival" is the theme of this year's Story Time at the Estill County Public Library. The program kicked off on Friday. Above is a group taking advantage of the "Photo Op" booth.

Kayla Fowler took a break from popping corn at the library to sit down. The weather was really hot.

Hula hooping was one of the events at the kick-off. This young lady has mastered the moves.

Carhartt "Day of Giving" & Relay for Life

Employees of Carhartt Co.'s Irvine Supply Chain Operations Center gathered for a group photo after lunch Friday before heading out into Estill County to volunteer for the Estill County Animal Shelter, Helping Hands, two trail related sites, and Irvine Health & Rehab Center. All of the employees were wearing the shirt the company donated to them, which said "#thecarharttway." Their tweets that day said the same thing.

One group of employees sorted clothing at Helping Hands in Ravenna. Some of the clothing was also donated by Carhartt employees for their first official "Day of Giving."

Another group of Carhartt employees filled the purple bags donated by the company with food and drinks at Helping Hands in Irvine. The bags will be given to children who may not have food this summer.

Local businessman Terry Barnes was dressed as a clown on Friday night to coincide with the carnival theme for Relay for Life. Barnes' mother passed away some years ago with cancer.
