Experience invaluable to any SEC player

by Larry Vaught

Experience normally proves invaluable for Southeastern Conference football players at any school. Kentucky certainly is no exception.

Just ask junior corthree-star prospect from Florida. He played all 12 games as a true freshman in 2015, and started four. Last season he started all 13 games and had three interceptions, seven pass breakups and 42 tackles.

"From my freshman I didn't really understand sophomore year I got a said. grip of what is going on. Who is valuable. What is everyone's role," said Baity. "From sophomore to junior season, everybody wants the team to be good rather than I am going to make this selfish play for myself and stuff like that. We all want to be good. It's really scary what that alone. As far as us workcan do for us."

Quotes of the Week

Quote of the Week: "Our confidence going through this summer is a lot higher than it was last summer. We know now that we can win big games in tough situations and not just die down in the fourth quarter. I'm excited for what we have in store," Kentucky quarterback Stephen Johnson on this season.

Quote of the Week 2: "I am ranked No. 4 in the state and everybody else ranked 1-9 has an Ohio State (scholarship offer). I do not want one. It just makes me mad, fuels the fire. But I don't pay that much attention to it," Kentucky defensive end commit Alex Reigelsperger.

Quote of the Week 3: "A lot of things come natural to him. He's smart. Guys want to be around him. He's a natural leader. That is what the quarterback position is all about. Guys want to rally around him. That's very rare in somebody who is not yet 18," quarterback coach Quincy Avery on UK quarterback commit Jarren Williams.
