Halloween

Halloween seems to always resemble a national holiday. Everyone seems to get in the spirit! Stores tempt customers with an array of candy, decorations and scary costumes. Haunted house themes light up yards, and the orange and black lights beckon callers. There are parties everywhere. October 31 is a day for the young and the old.

I remember one Halloween shortly after Bob and I were married, we were invited to my cousin, Janet's house to a Halloween party. Upon arrival, I noticed many were in costume; though some were not. I recognized Donnie, Scotty and Robert and a couple of other guys stirring a big iron kettle over an open fire. I was informed it was the witches' brew they were preparing. (I believe it was turtle soup). I thought Ugh!

Loud music was coming from the basement! It was a rock-n-roll band playing some great music. Another cousin, Wade was playing drums and their band sounded great.

Next I encountered a huge gorilla that definitely was scary. He was recruiting people to play a game with him. It was called, "Meet UGA-Booga." I noticed he had recruited several of the younger girls to participate. Only one person at a time was allowed to meet UGA-BOOGA to be initiated. Others waited upstairs eager to meet him.

Now UGA-BOOGA was a mighty King from the nation of Booga. People from all over visited Booga and fell in love with it. King UGA-Booga was a fair King, and generous. He was loved by all Boogans. Many visitors wanted to be a Boogan, but in order to be one they must go through a very strict and secretive initiation. Very few have passed this initiation, but those that have will tell you it is well worth it.

There are some Estill County people, (particularly those on Crooked Creek), that have passed the initiation. They will tell you it's awesome, but very secretive. Once initiated, you cannot divulge the procedure. Several people including myself and Bob met UGA-BOOGA that night. It was a fun experience.

Later on we took a hayride down Crooked Creek Road to a house that was supposed to be haunted. Many of us had already heard the story of a woman being shot during an argument between her husband and another man.

The story goes that she was shot accidentally in the temple, but the bullet just grazed her head. It was thought that she was only in a coma and not deceased. The neighbors who prepared her for burial claimed that her body never got cold. Maybe she was buried alive and still walks the halls of this old house. The house was scary and cold and eerie feeling. Several had seen apparitions over the years. I don't believe in ghosts but something weird was going on there. The house no longer exists. It burned a few years ago.

Maybe you will attend a Halloween party and get a chance to meet UGA-Booga!
