Maudie's Naughties

Sideswiped

Slim has a little too much to drink, and is walking up Needmore Hollow Road when a big truck comes along and knocks him down. The driver stops, gets out and hollers at him, "Hey, old man, watch out where you're walking."

Slim looks at the driver and asks, "Why, you gonna' back up?"

Correct Spelling

Pa is at the hospital taking a stress test while Junior and Howard stay in the waiting room where they begin arguing.

"I am telling you, it is whooom," says Junior, "W-h-o-o-o-m."

"And I am telling you, you are wrong," Howard contradicts, "It is definitely wooomp, w-o-o-o-m-p."

A young nurse passing by overhears, and wanting to set two country boys straight, decides to intervene. "Excuse me, boys," she says, "The word you are looking for is womb, w-o-m-b."

She walks on down the corridor feeling pleased with herself. Howard turns to Junior and says, "Wonder how she knew what it sounds like when a hippopotamus passes gas under water?"

Rules of the Game

The coach pulls aside one of his young players during a game and says, "Do you understand that we must have some rules in this game for the sake of everyone?" The little boy nods yes.

"And do you understand that we have to have somebody to enforce these rules?" The little boy nods yes.

"So," the coach continued, "When someone breaks those rules and the referee calls a foul on them, then we should not curse the referee or throw things at him. Do you understand all that?" Again, the boy nods yes.

"Good," said the coach. "Well, go over there and explain it to your mother before we get a technical foul."

Testamonal

The Methodist preacher, a Catholic priest, and Brother LeRoy are discussing funerals while eating lunch. The question comes up -- "When you are in your casket, and friends, family, and your congregation are mourning over you, what would you like to hear them say?"

The Methodist preacher says, "I'd like to hear them say that I was a wonderful husband, a fine spiritual leader, and a great family man."

The Catholic priest says, "I would like to hear that I was a wonderful teacher and a servant of God who made a huge difference in people's lives."

Brother LeRoy replies, "I'd like to hear them say... 'Look, he's moving!'"

Grand Theft

Farmer Green is getting ready for bed when Mrs. Green tells him that she can see lights moving around in their barn. As they watch from their bedroom window, they realize people are taking things from out of their barn and loading them in a van.

Green calls the police and tells them people are stealing stuff out of his barn and he needs someone to come right over. He is told that there is no one available in his area, but they'll send someone over as soon as possible.

After about a 30 minute wait, Green calls the police back and says, "Don't worry about sending someone over. I've just shot every last one of them rascals."

Five minutes later about a half dozen cars show up along with an Armed Response unit and they stop the van down the road where they apprehend the three burglars in it, unharmed. One of the officers comes up to the door and says, "I thought you said that you'd shot every last one of these rascals."

Green replies, "I thought you said there was nobody available!"

Big Bad Wolf

Little Red Riding Hood is skipping down the road when she sees a big bad wolf crouched down behind a log.

"My, what big eyes you have, Mr. Wolf."

The wolf jumps up and runs away.

Further down the road Little Red Riding Hood sees the wolf again and this time he is crouched behind a bush.

"My what big ears you have, Mr. Wolf."

Again the wolf jumps up and runs away.

About two miles down the road Little Red Riding Hood sees the wolf again. This time he is crouched down behind a rock.

"My what big teeth you have Mr. Wolf."

With that the wolf jumps up and screams, "Will you knock it off! I'm trying to poop!"

This Week at the State Capitol

Pace quickens in second month of legislative session

As legislators enter the second month of the Kentucky General Assembly's 2018 session, action already has been taken on a number of fronts that could have impacts across the state.

Lawmakers have approved a measure to allow Kentuckians to vote in November on a proposed state constitutional amendment to create what's been referred to as a "bill of rights" for crime victims.

Budget subcommittees are digging into the details of the governor's proposed spending plan to fully understand the potential impact of proposed cuts, as well as certain areas where spending increases are proposed. In the coming weeks, lawmakers will begin weighing which parts of the budget plan they want to adjust to make sure the final plan is one that matches their priorities for the state.

Meanwhile, almost 300 bills have been introduced for consideration in the Senate and House. The amount of legislation moving through the process will continue growing each day up as more bills are filed and shepherded through the legislative committee system.

Bills that took steps forward this week include:

- Senate Bill 37 would allow some nonviolent federal prisoners to get driver's licenses so they can work outside of prison walls. SB 37 would also amend current law to included federal prisoners under existing regulations that allow state prisoners to receive driver's licenses or identification cards upon release. SB 37 passed the Senate by a 36-0 vote. The measure now goes to the House for further consideration.

- House Bill 52 would require any child under age 12 to wear a helmet while riding a bicycle. While the bill does not impose fines for not wearing a helmet, the intent is to increase safety for children while cycling. After passing the House Transportation Committee, HB 52 now goes to the full House for consideration.

- Under House Bill 84, coroners or medical examiners would be required to verify the organ and tissue donation wishes of a deceased person in their care. Such information is now released by coroners and medical examiners to Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates upon the group's request, but the intent of this bill is to increase urgency in this process. HB 84 passed the House by a vote of 88-0 and now goes to the Senate for consideration.

- Senate Bill 68 would clarify that a victim of domestic violence is not required to pay divorce costs of a spouse locked up for crimes against the petitioner. Under current state law, someone seeking a divorce against an incarcerated person can be held responsible for paying the incarcerated person's court-appointed lawyer, even when the imprisonment is the result of spousal abuse. This bill was passed by the Senate this week by a 37-0 vote and has been delivered to the House.

- House Bill 132 would require Kentucky public high school students to fulfill a financial literacy requirement to graduate. The bill was approved this week by a vote of 68-24 in the state House and now goes to the Senate.

- Senate Bill 72 would curtail the naming of state buildings, roads and bridges after living politicians in Kentucky with the intent to take the politics out of these naming decisions. Passing with a 35-3 vote in the Senate, it now goes to the state House for further consideration.

Legislators are eager to receive feedback on the issues confronting our state. To share your thoughts and ideas with state lawmakers, please call the General Assembly's toll-free message line at (800) 372-7181.
