Library Happenings

Estill Public Library by Shannon Horn

November 30th, 2018

Hello Everyone!

We hope that everyone had a wonderful Thanksgiving. And of course the kids got a few extra days off of school because of the weather. It was nice to see them coming into the library to check out books or use the computers. We've had a lot going on this last week with more going on the next few weeks so here are some updates!

Adult Programs

Our last Crafternoon was a big hit! There were nineteen in attendance for Nelle William's demonstration on how to make peanut butter roll. Even though I didn't get to sit in on the class, Nelle gave me a piece of the sweet treat. Let me just say it was delicious! If you missed out on this session and would like to know how Nelle makes this delicious candy, head over to our Facebook page and watch the video that Lesa took. On December 12th we will have our Cricut out again so that anyone that wants to come in can make some Christmas cards!

Our final Pickin' in the Park concert went incredibly well. Even though the weather was kind of dreary, there was a great group in attendance to hear Senora. It was a great way to conclude the 2018 Pickin' in the Park series and we hope that we will have as much success next year!

Teen Programs

The Young Adult Book Club will be starting a new book soon! The group will be reading Inkheart by Cornelia Funke. This is one of my all-time favorite books! If you have a teen that loves reading about real world with a mix of fantasy this book is for them! I am so excited to see what activities they do with this book.

The YA Book Club will also be hosting a book tasting on December 18th from 4:00 - 5:30. This is for middle and high school students. In order to sign up, call and make a reservation. Seven of the twelve seats have already been filled, so go ahead and call. This will be a great way to introduce some of our new books to your teen. Katelyn has selected several good reads for this program. Call 723-3030 to make a reservation.

We used some of our spy skills during Fandom Friday this week. I gave each of the teens a coded message. They had to decode the message which was a book title, the author and the call number. Once they had decoded their message they had to go find the book. After they found the book they had to read as much of the book as they could. The first teen to get their book off the shelf, plus answer the most questions about what they had read got a book prize.

Kid Programs

Storytime It seems like there is a buzz to the air now when it is time for Storytime. The kids start out kind of shy, but after a round of If You're Happy and Ya Know It they start warming up. The weather has been influencing our choice of reading material this last week. I just had to pick a couple books about snow! We have several of our Christmas/Winter books on display at the library.

Santa will also be making a stop by Storytime on December 19th at 10:45.

Baby and Me

We have gotten some new Christmas board books in and our Baby and Me group has really been enjoying them. The newest Christmas books are adorable. As Christmas approaches I plan on incorporating some Christmas tunes into the music part of Baby and Me. The babies love all the decorations around the library, shouting "Ball!" every time they see the ornaments hanging from the ceiling. Fridays are a lot of fun and we would love for you to join us!

That's all for this week! Stop by and see us!
