Christine Schneider, 94

Christine Schneider, age 94, of Huntington Beach, California; formerly of Louisville, passed away Monday, January 8, 2018, at Huntington Beach.

She was born August 1, 1923, in Irvine, Kentucky, and was a long time resident of Louisville.

Ms. Schneider was preceded in death by her parents, Robert W. and Bettie Schneider; a sister, Jenny A. Schneider; and a brother, Robert F. Schneider. She is survived by four nephews John Schneider and family of Westerville, Ohio; Robert F. Schneider Jr. and family of Huntington Beach; Martin Schneider and family of Westerville; and David Schneider and family of Newark, Ohio.

Christine was an adventurous and independent woman that loved to entertain and enjoyed the game of bridge and theatre with her close friends. She volunteered for the Speed Museum for 32 years and for the Kentucky Center for the Arts for 30 years, in Louisville. Her dear friend Mary who volunteered with her and who is with us today tells us that she was able to enjoy all the productions at the theatre during her hours of volunteer work.

Christine was born at a time when Warren G. Harding, a Republican from Ohio, was President. The following day Calvin Coolidge became President following President Harding's sudden death. Songs written by Bessie Smith including Baby won't you please come home were popular and this was the year that Walt Disney Company was founded. Aunt Chris at age 92 asked her nieces, Jenny and Katie, to take her to Disneyland where she stayed until closing and had a wonderful time.

She grew up in a small house in Irvine with her parents, Robert and Bette, her older sister Jenny and her younger brother Bob. Her brother was five years younger than she was and she told us that when he was born her father was so excited that he ran all the way home from the hospital and left the car there. Her father worked for the railroad and she often told stories about her Mother dressing her and her sister Jenny up with new dresses and white gloves and riding the train into the city.

Christine was brought up with traditional values but instead of taking an interest in sewing and cooking like many from that era, her love was for travel. She wanted to see the world. Christine says that she received an application from one of her co-workers in the factory where they worked making things for the soldiers during WW11. The application was for a position of secretary with the State, U.S. Foreign Services. Christine did not think too much of it but completed the application and sent it in based on her desire to travel. Within a week the secret service was at her neighbor's door completing background checks. Christine said some of the neighbors asked her Mother what Christine had done wrong. Her Mother was supportive of Christine traveling across the world via Ship through France to Berlin for a two-year post, just a few months after WWII ended. While in Germany she attended the Nuremberg Trials. Her career would allow her to travel and live all over the world and when asked what her favorite place was to live she had a difficult time answering as she enjoyed so many. She did say that she was not fond of Saudi Arabia based on the heat and inability to walk around the markets safely. Christine was not easily intimidated though. In fact, she told the story of having a distillery from Sears and Roebuck sent to her while in Saudi Arabia where she and her peers made their own wine. She developed friendships all over the world and kept up with them through Christmas last year.

After retirement Christine lived with her sister Jenny for over 30 years in Louisville where she really enjoyed fine dining, the horse races, and traveling the short distance to Westerville, Ohio to visit her brother Bob and his family. This is the house where we have fond memories of everyone gathering on Christmas for a wonderful dinner and large family with a room full of gifts.

Christine lived the past few years close to her nephew Robert in California where she continued to enjoy the theater, movies, eating out and boating on the lake. Christine loved her entire family and enjoyed visiting with us and talking with us frequently. Her motto was one foot in front of the other and up until a few weeks prior to her death she continued to walk around outside and join us as we ate out at restaurants. Christine was always up for an adventure and always wanted to go somewhere, anywhere as long as she could place one foot in front of the other.

All of us here, and so many more, have precious memories of Aunt Chris and we will hold on to these to comfort us during this painful time when we miss her so very much.

Because of Jesus We Can Enjoy Easter Sunday

I was not there the day Christ died,
But I know He died for me.
I did not see the Crown of Thorns,
He wore to set me free.

I did not see the BLESSED ANGEL,
Who rolled the stone away,
Or the burial clothes Mary found lying there,
When she went to the tomb where Jesus lay.

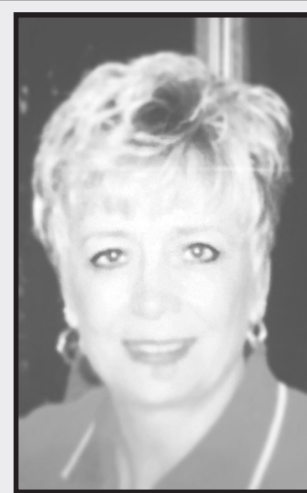

There is one thing that I can see,
One thing I know for sure is true.
Jesus did all this so we could live;
It is up to us the road we choose.

He carried His Cross up Calvary's Hill.
I was not there to share His pain.
He will not have to do this any more.
When he comes again, He will be the King.

They thought they had gotten rid of Jesus.
Oh, but they were wrong that day.
Sometimes we might think we are in control;
We will understand differently when He comes again.

Hide eggs with your children, enjoy Easter Sunday.
One thing we must teach them today,
Easter Sunday is not because of the Bunny Rabbit;
It is because Jesus came out of the grave.

AT THE FOOT OF THE CROSS - EASTER POEM

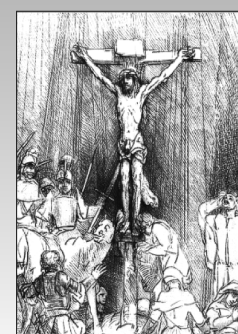

At the foot of the cross, I lay it all down
Everything in my life, that's hidden deep inside
I give it away, for my Savior to heal
These fears that I have, that I've buried for years
At the feet of Jesus, my heart pours out tears
As I kneel and pray, my thoughts become clear
And I finally see what's so very dear

At the foot of the cross, I cry out in pain
Anguishing thoughts pour out like rain
But, amidst these tears, I find a peace so calm
As Jesus scurries in, the darkness fades away
My heart is freed, my mind once again sane
And the past torments I've had are forever washed away
My life burns brighter, like the dawning of a new day

At the foot of the cross, I'm loved and not lost
Where the Holy drops blood, have paid off sin's cost
And the Savior was taken, now risen once more
Through the grace of God, the veil was torn

And the world was cast a new rope of hope
Dangling freely from Heaven, climbable by faith alone
To an eternal place where sin and death are dead
At the foot of the cross, life can be found
On your knees draped in blood, on Calvary's sacred ground

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Detail of the "The Three Crosses" by Rembrandt (1653)

My soul is among lions; I must lie among those who breathe forth fire, even the sons of men, whose teeth are spears and arrows and their tongue a sharp sword. Be exalted above the heavens, O God; let Your glory be above all the earth.
