Healthy Living for your Brain & Body

For centuries we've known that the health of the brain and the body are connected. But now, science is able to provide insights into how to optimize our physical and cognitive health as we age. Join us to learn about research in the areas of diet and nutrition, exercise, cognitive activity and social engagement, and use hands-on tools to help you incorporate these recommendations into a plan for healthy aging.

The program will take place at the Madison County Extension Office, located at 230 Duncannon Lane, Richmond, on Wednesday, May 9th, 2018, 1-2 p.m.

To register for this program, please call 1-800-272-3900. Registration is required.

"It Happened in Kentucky"

Noted Kentucky artist and author, Robert A. Powell, the 2015 Recipient of the "Jesse Stuart Award" from the Kentucky Association of School Librarians, will offer a presentation "It Happened In Kentucky" at the Estill County Historic Society Museum on Friday, May 11 at 6 p.m. This event is free and open to the public.

Powell will exhibit a portfolio of his pen & ink drawings of central Kentucky landmarks along with a display of books he has written about Kentucky subjects. His books will be available to peruse or purchase, and he will be available following the presentation to meet and talk with the public and sign books.

The distinctive art and writing of Robert A. Powell have long been acclaimed as a dynamic force in capturing and depicting vibrant images of history and heritage. His track record includes 39 published books, most on Kentucky subjects.

A native Kentuckian Robert A. Powell grew up in the Appalachian foothills and the Bluegrass country around Lexington. After graduating from Bryan Station High School in Lexington, he earned his BA degree at Kentucky Wesleyan College with majors in English and art and pursued graduate studies in communications and journalism at the University of Kentucky and Western Kentucky University.

Powell worked as a reporter and photographer for the Clay City Times, Lexington Herald-Leader, and Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer. He taught journalism, art, and English at high schools in both Kentucky and Florida, and served as a public relations specialist for the Kentucky Department of Education, the U. S. Office of Education, and Appalachian Regional Hospitals.

He served as Executive Editor of Kentucky Images Magazine for six years and was Editor of the Oleikan magazine for Oleika Shrine in Lexington, Kentucky for ten years and for Na Khabar magazine of the Oriental Bands Association of North America for five years.

Nineteen of his books are still active on Amazon and various bookstores, while several of his out-of-print titles are considered collector items. His newest release in Kentucky Medley, a concise notebook of Kentucky's heritage profusely illustrated with his unique pen & ink drawings, pencil drawings, and photographs. It has been declared by some as his best work yet. He was proclaimed by the Lexington Herald-Leader as "quite likely the most influential popular chronicler of Kentucky in recent years." The pen & ink style of Robert A. Powell has made him a favorite at interpreting subjects of Kentucky's fascinating history for more than fifty years.

His books can be viewed online at the Kentucky Hawke website: www.kyhawke.com
