

Extension Homemakers visit Blue Grass Stockyards

The Estill County Extension Homemakers visited the Bluegrass Stockyards in Lexington on Tuesday, July 10, 2018.

During their trip they received a guided tour around the facilities where they learned how the stockyards operate, as well as some history as to how the stockyards began. After their tour at Blue Grass Stockyards, the Homemakers visited Crank and Boom, an ice cream shop that serves Kentucky Proud Products.

Lastly, the Homemakers group visited and toured the Arboretum. The Estill County Extension Homemakers already have more trips like this one planned for the future, and would love for you to join them.

If you would like more information about how to an Estill County Extension Homemaker, and take advantage of trips like this one, please call the Estill County Family and Consumer Sciences agent, Thays Flores, at 606-723-4557.

Crowe-Bryant Family Reunion

The Crowes and Bryants met for their 43rd annual reunion on Saturday, June 23, 2018 at River Drive Christian Church, Irvine, KY. There were 16 present from seven different states. Those attending in the picture are, left to right, front: Tim Jones-Richmond, Anita Crowe Jones-Irvine, Bazel Crowe-Texas, Dave Bryant-Indiana. Second row: Kara Babb-Winchester, Janet Crowe-Texas, Lilah Crowe-Minnesota, Fanny Pearl Bryant Marshall-Ohio, Joyce Bryant-Indiana, Reggie Bryant-Indiana, Walter Crowe-Delaware. Back: Ernest Scott Jones-Irvine, Richard Crowe-Texas, Marian Jones Carpenter-Winchester, Tassie Gross Seiler-St Louis, Missouri, and Jody Crowe-Minnesota. Bazel Crowe from Houston, Texas was the oldest family member attending the reunion. A special thanks to Richard and Janet Crowe, El Paso, son and daughter-in-law, for accompanying Bazel to the reunion. The next reunion is planned for June 22, 2019, the 4th Saturday.

Irvine firefighter Chad Neal answered questions about the aerial truck at the Touch A Truck event Thursday.

Marie Jacobs, seated, turned 90 years old Saturday. She was honored with a birthday dinner by her family and church family on Sunday after worship services at Ivory Hill Baptist Church. Pictured with Marie are five generations. Her daughter, Diane Bates, is standing far right; her granddaughter, Kim, is standing between Marie and Diane, and great granddaughter, Brittany, is holding the latest great-great grandchild. Marie is holding another great great grandchild, Jaelyn Miles. Marie lives at West Irvine with her other daughter, Phyllis Tipton.

Getting to sit in the drivers of an aerial truck is a guarantee to put smiles on faces.

Sitting in a big truck seat is a good place to get told about the ins and outs of the EMT's job.
