Defoliating Caterpillars

veins. Often, damage is not noticed until significant defoliation occurs. By then, the caterpillars have left the tree and burrowed into the soil to pupate.

This is the general pattern followed by several species that are active in late summer. While there is aesthetic damage, healthy trees generally survive with little crown dieback or loss of vigor. Caterpillar numbers may be high for 2 or 3 consecutive years but usually are regulated by natural enemies.

While most trees are with an insecticide, smaller trees can be treated to reduce caterpillar feeding damage. Some examples of insecticide brands are Sevin, Bonide Eight or Captain Jack's Dead Bug Brew, Spectracide Triazicide Insect Killer for Lawns & Landscapes, and Or-The orange-striped oak tho Bug-B-Gon Max.
