"I THINK WE CAN BEAT HIM IF WE ALL WORK TOGETHER."

Maudie's Naughties

Stickup

Late one night in Washington, D.C., a mugger wearing a ski mask jumps into the path of a well-dressed man and sticks a gun in his ribs.

"Give me your money," he demands.

Indignant, the affluent man replies, "You can't do this - I'm a United States Congressman!"

"In that case," replies the robber, "Give me MY money!"

Lost in the Park

A police car pulls up in front of Ma's house, and Pa gets out. The polite policeman tells her that this elderly gentleman says that he was lost in the park and couldn't find his way home.

"Pa," says Ma, "You've been going to that park for over 30 years! So how could you get lost?"

Leaning over close to Ma, so that the policeman can't hear, Pa whispers, "Lost? I wasn't lost! I was just too tired to walk home."

The Checkup

Pa goes in for a thorough check-up at a Lexington clinic. Arriving at the huge and somewhat confusing building, he gets an x-ray on the second floor and returns to the first floor for a blood test.

Afterwards, a nurse tells him, "Now, sir, you must go to the 3rd floor where you'll give them a urine sample, and when you're through with that you'll go up to the 4th floor where they'll need a sample of your stool. When all this is done, you can go home and wait for us to send you the results."

Completely annoyed, Pa says "That's hard to remember for a man of my age. Wouldn't it be simpler if I just leave you my underpants here? You can have all the samples you want."

Follow Up

Pa gets his medical results a week after his medical exam and calls up the doctor to complain, "I've been to three other doctors since I read your report, and none of them agreed with your diagnosis."

The doctor calmly replies, "Just wait until the autopsy, then they'll see that I was right."

Halloween Ball

Former President Bush is attending a masquerade Halloween Ball, and dances with a woman who is wearing a map of Texas for a costume. Suddenly she slaps him hard and stalks off the dance floor.

"What the heck happened?" asks the security chief who has witnessed the entire event.

"I'm not really sure," replies Bush, rubbing his red cheek. "When she asked me where in Texas I was from, I put my finger on Crawford to show her, and she let me have it."

Computer Hacker

Folks, we now have a computer hacker right here in our county. That's right! Police were called to her home last Wednesday night. It was Ma. That's right, Ma! She returns home from prayer meeting to find Pa in front of the computer chatting with women and looking at some of the pictures they had sent him. Ma was so upset she hacks that computer terminal into little pieces with a meat cleaver. She starts after Pa but the police held her off until Pa can run into the woods. They're still looking for him.

The Beggar

"My poor man," says the kind old lady to the pan handler, "It must be dreadful to be lame. But think how much worse it would be if you were blind."

"You got that right, lady," agrees the pan handler. "When I was blind, I was always getting counterfeit money."

Bored City Slicker

A young man from the city goes to visit his farmer uncle. For the first few days, the uncle shows him the usual things -- chickens, cows, crops, etc. After three days, however, it is obvious that the nephew is getting bored, and the uncle is running out of things to amuse him with. Finally, the uncle has an idea. "Why don't you grab a gun, take the dogs, and go shooting?" This seems to cheer the nephew up, and with enthusiasm, off he goes, dogs in trail.

After a few hours, the nephew returns.

"How did you enjoy that?" asks the uncle.

"Great!" says the nephew. "Got any more dogs?"

Walking a Country Road

CHORUS:

*I love to walk down a country road,
In Spring, Winter, Summer or Fall.
I love to walk down a country road,
Taking it easy and loving it all.*

*Big city streets may appeal to some,
But they don't do much for me.
Just give me an old country road,
For it has got a feeling that's free.*

*Taking a quiet walk with your favorite girl,
Is a great little pleasure in this busy world.
And though any time of day would be alright,
Give me a country road on a moonlit night.*

*Country road, I've known you all my life;
Country road, I want to live near you with my wife.
A family of country road lovers like me,
Would be a treasure that I would like to see.*
