

ECMS 2019 Spring Fling "Secret Garden"

ABOVE: Members of the Estill County Middle School student council hosted their annual spring fling on Friday night titled "Secret Garden"

AT LEFT: Lauren Hardy, Natalie York, and Samara Rawlins
CENTER: Landon Coomer, Kenny Dell Rose, and Tyler Brewer
RIGHT: Chelsea Hardy and Maddi Jo Benton

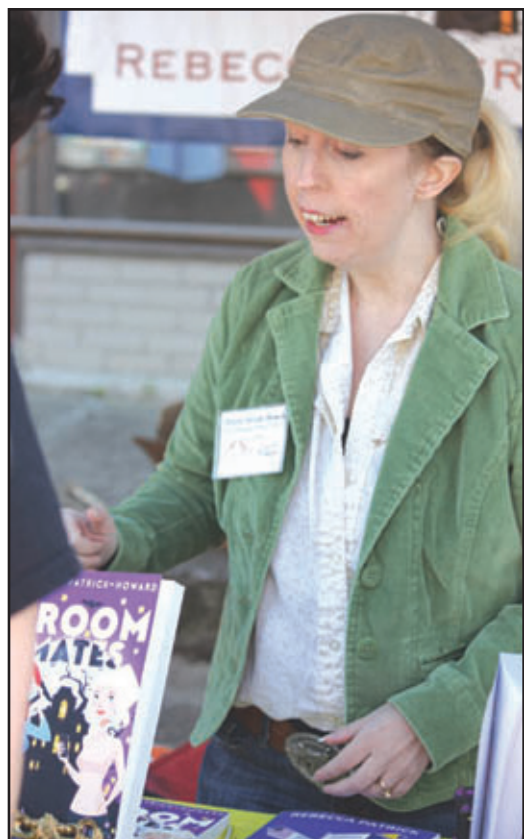

Donations Made by Friends of the Bluegrass

The Kentucky Friends of Bluegrass is dissolving after many years of service. They are donating their remaining funds to other area nonprofit organizations. The Estill County Historical & Genealogical Society, the Estill County Animal Shelter and the American Legion Post 79 were recipients of donations. Three other donations to Powell County nonprofit organizations were made as well—Red River Historical Society, Am Vets, and the Powell County Animal Shelter.

AT RIGHT: Diane Arthur received a $500 donation on behalf of the ECH&GS from Don Rogers and Bertha Peters of the Kentucky Friends of Bluegrass on Wednesday, April 17. (Photo by Stormie Baker)

BELOW: The Sons of American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary thank Bertha Peters and Don Rogers of Kentucky Friends of Bluegrass for their donation to these two groups. From left are, Kim Richardson, Linda Webb, Pleas McIntosh, Bertha Peters, Donnie Rogers, and Bobby Gentry.

BELOW RIGHT: Tommy Mullen of the Estill County Animal Shelter was very moved after receiving a $500 donation from Don Rogers representing Kentucky Friends of Bluegrass. The donation will help in the Animal Shelter's mission to avoid euthanizing animals. (Photo by Stormie Baker)

Eddie Hughes was one of the local singers taking his turn on the Grand Stand, Saturday afternoon. He also played the guitar for Jennifer Sons Richardson. The Hughes-Richardson concert was well attended. The entertainment opened with clogging.

Local author, Rebecca Patrick-Howard, had a booth at the Mushroom Festival where she was selling and autographing her books. Above, she is discussing her book, "Broom Mates," with a prospective buyer.

Ravenna Mayor Estine Tipton rode in the 29th annual Mt. Mushroom Festival Parade on Saturday. She was surrounded by lots of local Boy Scouts carrying American flags, Kentucky flags, and Boy Scout flags. The Cub Scouts rode on a float in the parade.