Reggie Hanson Hopes His New Book Helps Prepare Athletes For Real Life

by Larry Vaught

Former Kentucky basketball player and assistant coach Reggie Hanson has kept up with college athletics since getting out of coaching in 2014 and has remain "invested" in college basketball.

He's also seen the high number of Division I athletes transferring each year and how the number continues to grow.

That was part of the inspiration for writing his book, "10 Life Lessons: Learned as a Student-Athlete."

"Players get out of college in four or five years and they are still not ready for real life," said Hanson, who scored 1,167 points during his UK career from 1987-91 before later spending seven seasons on coach Tubby Smith's UK staff. "All the things they learn in athletics do not always transition to real life for different reasons. The more I saw that, the more I felt I needed to write this book to help young people understand that college can translate to real life."

He knew he had to be able to write what would relate to college and/or high school students to "grab their attention" so tion, discipline and more.

"I give some funny stories to things that happened to me to make the book more interesting," Hanson, who briefly played and coach, said.

His book is also for coaches because he feels TV show "Whiskey Cavathey need to having more lier," said. "It should be player about real life.

how scouting reports transition to the business world when you are doing a presentation. If you you lose the game. If you don't get the presentayour job," Hanson said. "I am not putting blame on coaches. Most are on side stories where he gives a short leash and have to develop players, succeed and win games. I just want fantastic behind the scenes to bring back a reminder with helping players get of UK basketball." ready for real life."

Hanson got out of coaching in 2014 and tried several jobs in the business world before finding one he enjoys — he's a manager at Dillards, a successful retail chain in Tampa.

"So many different people reached out to me after I got out of coaching because they understood in the corporate world you have to develop skills with your employees just a like a coach does with his players." Hanson said.

Hanson says his book what college athletes will go through and it can help much, or maybe more.

"For high school kids, playing at UK. The two quan McCall can not be have remained friends and Hanson said the actor was one of the first people to buy the book.

in the NBA and then seven leasing a book I knew I had years in Japan as a player to read it and I'm so glad I did," Hopkins, one of the star's of the current ABC-"teaching sessions" with must reading for studentathletes in high school or "Why not talk about college and the lessons are easily relatable to situations in the professional world weather it be sport or otherwise. It's a short do not do the right scout, read with excellent advice and Reggie has a welcoming voice that manages to tion right, you might lose teach without seeming preachy.

"He also throws in these examples from his life and career and there is some info that any Cat fan would about how are they doing love to learn about that era

Hanson hopes to set up a book signing tour in Kentucky soon. Until then, Hanson suggests going to Amazon.com, type in his name and information on the book will appear.

Justin Rogers

What did getting a verbal commitment last week from Michigan lineman Justin Rogers, the 10thrated player in the 2020 recruiting class by Rivals. com, mean for Kentucky and coach Mark Stoops?

"It offers a lot of credis geared to help show ibility to the coaching staff on the recruiting trail," 247Sports recruit- Trophy, which are both high school students as ing writer Josh Edwards given to the nation's top said. "When a player that player. notice. 'Since Rogers' an-Most have no clue what nouncement, there has been a lot of social media interaction from Kentucky targets. It is a smaller class expected this year so it will be interesting to see how nings and struck out 130 the coaching staff handles — he ranked 11th nathe numbers." Edwards knows Kenbought it so far have given tucky's 10-win season is resonating with recruits up 59 hits. and Rogers' commitment shows a whole new na-Stoops and his program.

understated in his recruitment. It was not long ago that legacy recruits like Zack Martin, Russ Yeast, "When I saw he was re- Nick Martin and Zeke Correll were committing to other programs," Edwards said. "The aesthetic of landing a Michigan recruit over Michigan and Michigan State builds respectability."

> Rogers' mother, Joya Townsel, told the Detroit Free Press that she "liked Georgia" best. She also said it was easy to understand why he did not pick homestate Michigan. She said other schools "reached out" to her son more than Michigan did.

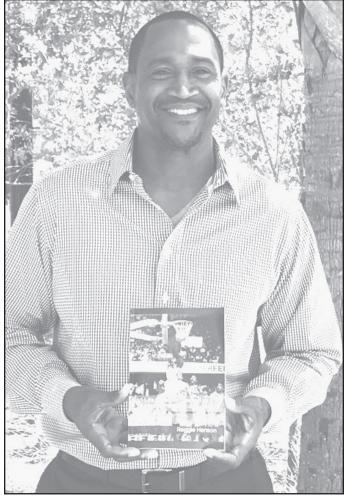

"I think that's where schools go wrong, when they don't reach out to thesekids and show they're really interested in them. I believe that played a part. Justin used to always go up there and visit and watch their games,"she told the in conference play. Detroit newspaper.

The biggest shock was er spoke to Michigan coach Jim Harbaugh or anyone on his staff. Kentucky recruiting coordinator Vince Marrow emphasizes constantly the value of building relationships with parents and family members.

Zack Thompson

Kentucky junior pitcher Zack Thompson earned second-team all-Southeastern Conference honors and is also a semifinalist for the Golden Spikes Award and Dick Howser depend on him to get the only win in a three-game with a 2.40 earned run this month. average in 14 starts. He walking just 34 and giving Former Kentucky player and assistant coach Reggie Hanson has written a book based on life lessons he learned through athletics he thinks will help both college and high school athletes.

pitcher to have 200 cathat she also said she nev- reer strikeouts and finished with 268, third best in school history. His 130 strikeouts were a single season record for a southpaw.

> Most expect him to be a top 20 pick in next month's Major League Baseball told me he was the SEC's best pitcher and they believe he could end up being a top 10 pick which is pretty amazing considering UK did not even make the 12-team SEC Tournament this season.

Ky. Connections

could have gone anywhere Thompson had a sensa- can make a difference er ranked as one of the it might be an even bet- chooses to play out of state tional season for a young when it comes to the NFL worst tackles in the NFL "I took my experiences ter read because it will for a program, others take Kentucky baseball team draft just like it did for UK last season. that way too often had to offensive lineman George Asafo-Adjei when the New York Giants picked him in SEC series. He went 6-2 the seventh round earlier "I want them to keep dis-Turns out that Giants threw a workhorse 90 in- offensive line coach Hal Hunter's son works in the Kentucky football office tionally with 13 strikeout and told his father about ball recruiting coordinator per nine innings — while Asafo-Adjei's work ethic and character. "He talked about what preseason polls. But get this — in SEC a quality guy he was. He play he was 5-1 with a was probably the most 2: "He has good size but Actor Josh Hopkins first tional level of respect for 2.27 ERA and struck out respected guy on the offensive side of the ball. He talked about how he competed with Josh Allen on a handling and shooting to day-to-day basis. He talked about his character, work He will also have to get ethic and his toughness," Hal Hunter said about likely won't be anything what his son told him after more than a role player. He Asafo-Adjei. "You watch will have a lot of develophim on tape and see that ing to do," USA Today NBA he has a lot of athleticism and power. He has a lot of toughness and plays in the ton. best football conference in the country." ager Dave Gettleman told media members the team credibility and then up had the UK lineman graded higher than a seventhround pick but had some it and leave it. That's just concerns about technical issues. have to tell him to do something once and he goes on the tank," Bruce Pearl, the and does it right the next SEC's third highest paid time. He picked up the offense much quicker than I thought he was going to," burn.

Hunter said about Asafo-He's only the 14th UK Adjei. "When you compare our offense to their offense, we have a lot more volume to it with a lot of the things that we were doing.

"We need to continue to work with him technically to get him up to speed but you have to like everything about him."

Hunter liked that Asafo-Draft. Several scouts have Adjei verbally committed to UK early and kept his word even when he got offers from bigger schools. The Giants liked how he stuck to his commitment.

Asafo-Adjei will get a chance to compete with third-year pro Chad Wheeler for the starting right tackle position. Pro Connections of all kind Football Focus had Wheel-he could help them.

at UK as a player for Rick Pitino the last three years and how each experience translated to real life," Hanson said.

has 10 lessons/chapters and each is a real life experience that Hanson had where he could show how that translated to real life. The chapters include perseverance, overcoming adversity, leadership, mental toughness, organization you'll get a lot out of it." and time management. process, personal authority, sacrifice, communica-

help them know what to be prepared for in college. they will be going through. I know I didn't. This book That's why the book will help give them a leg up but it really will help anybody who just wants some life lessons they can use," Hanson said.

> "The people who have me nothing but great feedback. It's an easy read but preparation, trusting the met Hanson when he was a Lexington high school

"Rogers' relationship student and Hanson was with (UK freshman) Mar-

93 in 67 innings and had two complete-game wins (Georgia, Florida), a rarity

Zack Thompson set a single-season strikeout record with 130 and is expected to be at least a top 20 pick in the Major League Baseball Draft. (UK Athletics Photo)

Quotes of the Week

Quote of the Week: respecting us because it drives us. We don't look for them to motivate us but it just makes me mad. It really does," Kentucky foot-Vince Marrow on the lack of respect for UK in 2019

Quote of the Week is not the most athletic guy in the world. He will have to improve his ballmake an impact long term. a little stronger. He most draft capsule on Kentucky sophomore P.J. Washing-

Quote of the Week 3:

"You don't work this hard New York general man- to try to establish yourself and build some trust and and just give it up and let somebody else walk into not how I roll; that's now how I'm built. ... I hope this "He is a rookie and you is my last college coaching job. I've got plenty left in and third-longest tenured coach, on staying at Au-