Maudie's Naughties

Golfing Blues

An elderly gent goes to the Country Club every day after his retirement where he plays through nine holes and then comes home. One day, he arrives home downcast. "That's it," he tells his wife. "My eyesight has gotten so bad that I can't see where the ball has gone once I hit it."

His wife sympathizes with him as they set down for a cup of coffee. "Why don't you take your old buddy Milton with you tomorrow?"

"What good will that do," he replies. "Milton's a hundred and three. He can't remember what day it is. He can't help."

"But, his eyesight it perfect," she replies.

So, the next day he takes off to the links with Milton in tow. He tees off at the first hole, then squints down the fairway.

He turns to Milton and says, "Did you see where the ball went?"

"I sure did," replies Milton, "But now I forgot."

Domestic Bliss

Esmerelda comes home early from shopping one day and hears strange noises coming from the bedroom. She rushes upstairs to find her husband naked on the bed, sweating and panting. "What's wrong?" she asks.

"I think I'm having a heart attack," he cries out.

So, Esmerelda rushes downstairs to call for help. She has just picked up the phone when she hears one of the children screaming out, "A naked lady just ran down the hallway and hid in the closet."

Esmerelda runs back upstairs, pulls open the closet door, and, sure enough, there's her best friend, standing there naked."

"I can't believe this," says Esmerelda. "My husband's having a heart attack and you're running around the house naked and scaring the kids."

Let's Make a Deal

Elrod is driving up and down the rows at Wal-Mart but he can't find a parking place close enough to the door. Looking up into heaven, he says, "Lord, help me find a good parking space and I'll go back to church on Sundays and give up drinking so much!"

Just then a car at the top of the row starts backing out right in front of Elrod.

"Never mind," says Elrod. "I found one myself."

Police Recruit

A man seeks to join the police force in a metropolitan city in the west. A sergeant doing the interview says, "Your qualifications looks good, but we have one more suitability test before you will be accepted."

Then, sliding a pistol across the desk, he says, "Take this pistol and go out and shoot six drug dealers, six terrorists, six bank robbers and a rabbit."

"Good deal," says the man, "But, why the rabbit?"

Service Memorial

One Sunday morning, Brother Marv notices a little boy staring at the veterans' memorial. "Son," he says, "This is a memorial to the men and women who died after service."

After staring at the pictures for a short time, the little boy asks, "Was that after morning service or evening service?"

Two Older Guys Talking

"Wife gave me an SUV yesterday for my birthday."

"Wow, that's amazing! Imagine, an SUV! What a great gift!"

"Yep Socks, Underwear and Viagra!"

Moe and Joe at the Bar

Moe: "My wife got me to believe in religion."

Joe: "Really?"

Moe: "Yeah. Until I married her I didn't believe in hell."

Strange Encounter

A Needmore man is walking back home late one Saturday night when he sees a woman lurking in the shadows.

"Twenty dollars," she whispers.

The man had never done anything like that before, but he decides, what the heck, it's only twenty bucks. So the two of them slip into the bushes.

They've only been gone for a couple of minutes when a light flashes on them. It's a police officer.

"What's going on here, people?" asks the officer.

"Oh," says the man, "The wife and I are just trying to put a little romance back into our marriage."

"Your wife?" says the officer. "I'd have never figured that!"

"Neither would I," says the man, "Until you shined that light on her face."

DAR Promotes Constitution Week

Celebrate the Foundations of America

There are two documents of paramount importance to American history: the Declaration of Independence, which forged our national identity, and the United States Constitution, which set forth the framework for the federal government that is still in use today. While Independence Day is a beloved national holiday, fewer people know about Constitution Week, an annual commemoration of the living document that upholds and protects the freedoms central to our American way of life. This year, the annual celebration begins September 17, 2019.

The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) initiated the observance in 1955, when the organization petitioned the U.S. Congress to dedicate September 17-23 of each year to the commemoration of Constitution Week. Congress adopted the resolution, and on August 2, 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed it into Public Law #915. The celebration's goals are threefold: to encourage the study of the historical events that led to the framing of the Constitution in September 1787; to inform people that the Constitution is the basis of America's great heritage and the foundation of our way of life; and to emphasize U.S. citizens' responsibility to protect, defend and preserve the Constitution.

DAR has been the foremost advocate for the awareness, promotion and celebration of Constitution Week. This annual observance provides innumerable opportunities for educational initiatives and community outreach, two mission areas of crucial importance to the National Society's work. By fostering knowledge of and appreciation for the Constitution and the inalienable rights it affords to all Americans, DAR helps to keep alive the memory of the men and women who secured our nation's independence, whose bravery and sacrifice made possible the liberties we enjoy today.

"The framers created a Constitution that translated into law the ideals upon which our nation was built," said DAR President General Denise Doring VanBuren. "Their vision was so forward thinking that their words still guide us today. No American history education can be complete without a thorough understanding of the impact the Constitution has had on the lives of American citizens past and present."

the largest patriotic women's organizations in the world, DAR has more than 185,000 members in approximately 3,000 chapters across the country and even in numerous foreign countries. DAR strives to promote historic preservation, education and patriotism via commemorative events, scholarships and educational initiatives, citizenship programs, service to veterans, meaningful community service, and more. For additional information about DAR and its programs, visit www.dar.org.

Elisha Witt Chapter, KS-DAR will meet Saturday, September 21st at 11:30 am in the Ravenna Christian Church Fellowship Hall. Prospective members are welcome. For more information please call Janice Bush, 606-723-3662 or Susan Hawkins 606-723-5755.

Letter to the Editor

Dislikes Posters on Roads

Dear readers of this paper:

These words are in my opinion; all of these foster parent posters that is sticking out along the roads should be destroyed. In my opinion, they are destructive. In my opinion, put these social workers out helping clean houses or helping the elderly instead of taking children out of homes away from their loved ones; interrupting their school work and friends. In my opinion, this is mental abuse and mental cruelty. This is something that will last them a lifetime. We have men and women fighting, coming back wounded and some giving their lives for our freedom. What freedom do we have when we cannot correct our children and the schools cannot correct them. Look at the violence since the correction was taken and us parents and grandparents are not willing to stand up and fight for our freedom and rights for our children. I am so proud and thank God for a wonderful mother. I had with 12 brothers and sisters and was taught with love and respect and work.

Mary J. Warner

Editor's Note:

Everyone has a right to their own opinion, and the writer has expressed hers; however, her opinion is not the opinion of this newspaper or its staff. We fully support social workers for what they do whether we agree with their decisions or not. One only has to turn on the 6-o'clock news to see what would happen if social workers are not allowed to do their job to the best of their ability.
